SELECT JURY FOR TRIAL OF GANG LEADER

AL CAPONE CHARGED WITH EVADING INCOME TAX

BY VICTOR HACKLER

Chicago, Oct. 6 (AP)—Twelve men who swore they had formed no opinions or prejudices from what they read and heard about Alphonse Capone took oath as jurors today in the income tax trial of the scar-faced gang leader.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson needed but one day to qualify the men who will have the task of deciding whether to send Chicago's premiere "public enemy" to prison. Capone has had a few court hearings before, he has been adjudged guilty and sentenced twice, but never before has he elected to stand trial before a jury.

Gov't Claims $215,000

Aside from the unusual court setting, the big room devoid of spectators but overrun by press tables, there was little to let the jurors know that the case before them was the government's greatest effort, the climax of a two year drive on gangland.

They were told that it was a case in which a Mr. Capone was charged with making about $1,000,000 in six years and failing to pay the government some $215,000 taxes on it. "Nothing is to be decided," the court told them, "except whether this man evaded and attempted to defeat these taxes."

The questions answered by the veniremen were mostly routine, did they know any one connected with the trial, had they had any difficulties with the government, had they any prejudice against Capone, or against his nationality.

Having read about the case, even having discussed it, did not disqualify one. Judge Wilkerson went on the assumption that every one had read of Capone and his troubles with the federal government; he tried merely to find men whose opinion had not been fixed by that reading.

The defense proposed a question, adopted by the court, in which the veniremen were asked if they belonged to or contributed to "law enforcement bodies such as the Anti-Saloon League." Two men had contributed to organizations which they thought would come under that class but were not excluded for that reason.

The first business of the day was Capone's formal plea of "not guilty." He once pleaded guilty to the same charges but was permitted to withdraw the plea after Judge Wilkerson said he could not sanction an agreement for leniency.

The defense moved to force the 40 newspapermen from the enclosure before the bench and also asked that it be given a list of persons subpoenaed by the government. Decision was reserved on both motions.

New U. S. Court District Proposed

Final Rites For Morrow To Be Today

BY MORRIS WATSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Englewood, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—Unpretentious dignity will characterize the funeral services tomorrow for Senator Dwight W. Morrow in the First Presbyterian church, where the family has worshipped for twenty-six years.

President Hoover will be unable to leave Washington to pay tribute to his friend and adviser, but will be represented by Vice President Curtis at the head of a congressional delegation.

The Rev. Carl R. Elmore, pastor of the church, will officiate. There will be no honorary pallbearers.

Hundreds of messages of sympathy were received by the family today, many of them from abroad. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Anne Lindbergh, son-in-law and daughter of Morrow, sent a cablegram from China. They were aboard the British aircraft carrier Hermes, cruising down the Yangtse estuary from Nanking, when Mrs. Morrow's message of the senator's death reached them last night.

A decision to bury Senator Morrow in Brookside cemetery in Englewood completed funeral arrangements.

COMING HOME

Shanghai, Oct. 7—(Wednesday)—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh announced today that in view of the death of Mrs. Lindbergh's father, United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow, they have abandoned plans to continue an aerial tour of China and will take a steamer immediately for Seattle.

POLICE CLASH WITH RADICALS

One Officer and Three Negroes Shot in Cleveland Row

Cleveland, Oct. 6 (AP)—A police lieutenant and three negroes were shot and wounded here late tonight as a police cruising squad clashed with 300 Communists who had gathered to halt an eviction in the East Side negro district.

Several blocks from the scene of the riot police discovered the body of a negro, shot through the head. It could not be determined if he met his death in the course of the gun battle.

Police squads, equipped with tear gas bombs, were rushed to the neighborhood and dispelled the mob without difficulty.

The affair had its inception at the regular Tuesday night Communist meeting on a street corner near the scene of the disturbance.

Harangued by Communist leaders, the crowd moved on the house where a negro family was being

Universalists Vote Birth Control Okeh

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—The Michigan Universalist convention adjourned today after adopting a resolution approving the principle of birth control in certain cases and recommending enactment of national legislation authorizing dissemination of contraceptive information.

Another resolution adopted in the closing session authorized the Rev. Ellsworth Reamon, of Lansing, convention president, to invite unitarian churches to participate in the 1932 meeting.

Paper Company's Executive Hurt

Monroe, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—H. Lee Rauch, vice president and general manager of the Consolidated Paper company, was shot in both legs today by his father, E. C. Rauch, president of the company, while hunting ducks near St. Helen, in Roscommon county. The two returned to Monroe this afternoon. The younger Rauch's wounds were not serious.

STUDENT ARRESTED

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—Kenneth Hilliard, 20 year old Eastern high school boy, was arrested today by police charged with several robberies here including a gasoline station and store break-ins. The boy implicated two others whose names police have not divulged.

WORLD SERIES FOES EVEN UP, 2 GAMES EACH

EARNSHAW PERMITS ONLY TWO HITS BY MARTIN

BY ALAN GOULD
(Ass'd Press Sports Editor)

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—The big guns boomed again today. Big George Earnshaw cracked the whip lash of his fast ball. The Athletics won the fourth of the world series games, 3 to 0, and it's a deadlock, at two games each, in one of the most spectacular battles of all time for the baseball championship.

Earnshaw

Earnshaw held the Cardinals to a pair of hits, both made by the irrepressible "Pepper" Martin, sensational rookie outfielder, and was invincible with a fireball that had most of the other Red Birds in a daze.

It was Martin who almost single handed "stole" the second game of the series from Earnshaw with his spectacular base running, but the big right hander permitted no Cardinal foot to reach third base this afternoon as he bore down with blinding speed on the three occasions he was threatened.

Meanwhile the big sluggers of the "A's" emerged from their two day coma to knock Sylvester Johnson out of the box in the sixth inning with an attack featured by Jimmy Foxx's terrific home run over the left field stands. The world champions collected ten hits off the combined offerings of Johnson and Jim Lindsey, twice as many as they gained off Hallahan and Grimes in two previous contests.

Look Like Champs

They looked every inch the part of world champions in squaring the series, thereby making it certain that the warring forces will return to St. Louis to decide the issue after playing the fifth game here tomorrow.

Another capacity crowd of 32,295 fans yelled itself hoarse as Earnshaw twirled the second two hit game of the series. It was more efective, though perhaps not quite so thrilling and dramatic as Burleigh Grimes' two hit victory of the day before which was marred by Al Simmons' ninth inning home run.

Coming on top of Bill Hallahan's three hit shutout and Grimes' great performance, Earnshaw's feat added to one of the greatest exhibitions of pitching in world series history. It was a masterpiece of fast ball effectiveness, control and confidence, comparable to the brilliant work the big ex-collegian exhibited against the Cardinals a year ago.

Parallel 25 Years Ago

It's necessary to go back exactly 25 years to the 1906 series between the White Sox and Cubs, to find a parallel to the remarkable succession of twirling performances in this intersectional battle. That year, two famous right handers, Ed Walsh of the Sox and Mordecai (Three

Developments Cheer Up Business World

By The Associated Press

A new note of cheer was sent through the business world yesterday by a variety of developments:

President Hoover began a series of conferences with congressional leaders, bankers and real estate men to map out a constructive program to aid American finance and business.

By bringing together private capital and a liberalized government cooperation, the president hopes to ease credits and put into use many of the country's assets now frozen by the unusual conditions of recent industrial inactivity.

The news was greeted by one of the swiftest advances on the New York Stock Exchange in recent years. Gains averaging well over 5 points were made by 599 stocks. Some surged up 15 points. Shares were traded in blocks of 1,000 to 8,500. The turnover exceeded 4,000,000 shares.

Grains advanced strongly. Cotton went up $1.55 to $1.75 a bale. The curb market reflected the breath-taking up-rush. Foreign exchanges were firm. Leading commodities went up. The bond market also brightened.

A General Motors official announced his corporation will employ as many men in the next four months as they have in the last eight. He predicted the automobile industry could expect the first half of 1932 to show improvement over the first half of 1931.

The Sante Fe Railroad declared a regular quarterly dividend of $2.50.

Gerard Swope, president of General Electric Company, offered to his employes a plan which will prevent further layoffs without compensation and insure each shop worker at least $15 a week in wages for the next six months.

Murphy and Emmons Nominees for Mayor, Eldred Also Winner

Detroit, Oct. 6 (AP)—A landslide placed Mayor Frank Murphy in nomination for re-election in today's non-partisan primary election. Harold H. Emmons, former police commissioner, was nominated as his opponent.

In a field of eight candidates Murphy polled approximately half of the votes cast, while Emmons, though led by the incumbent in a three to one ratio, was far ahead of six other candidates.

Returns from 771 of the city's 895 precincts gave Murphy 101,995 votes, while Emmons had 31,473. Howard A. Starret ran third with 18,743. John C. Nagel, long a councilman, had 13,183.

Mayor Murphy has been in office since September, 1930, when he was elected to serve the unexpired term of Charles Bowles, who was recalled.

ELDRED OPPOSES HART

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—Leading the field by more than 1,600 votes, Foss O. Eldred, of Ionia, today became the Republican nominee to succeed the late Bird J. Vincent as representative in congress from the Eighth Michigan district.

His opponent in the November election will be Michael J. Hart, of Saginaw, who defeated William B. Mershon, also of Saginaw, in to-

COURTS ASKED TO OPEN WELLS

Governor Murray's Foes Seek Injunction Against Edict

Oklahoma City, Oct. 6 (AP)—Foes of Governor William H. Murray's martial oil field clamp sought today to remove it through the federal court.

An injunction against enforcement of the order, which shut down Oklahoma flush gushers more than two months ago, was sought by attorneys for Frank Russell, Birmingham, Ala., of the Russell Petroleum corporation. Violation of both federal and state constitutions was charged.

The suit pointed toward a possible contest on the governor's contention that "inferior federal courts" abuse their powers in placing corporations above "sovereign states."

Indict Kane for Murder of Wife

Hampton, Va., Oct. 6 (AP)—Elisha Kent Kane, III, professor of romance languages at the University of Tennessee, today was indicted for murder by a grand jury investigating the drowning of his wife.

The true bill charged that Kane held his wife, Jenny Graham Kane, under the water at Grand View beach until she was dead.

Trial for Kane, who is now at liberty under $15,000 bond, is expected to be arraigned before Judge C. Vernon Spratley tomorrow.

HOOVER PLAN BOOSTS STOCK MART PRICES

GREATEST RECOVERY IN RECENT MONTHS

BY CLAUDE J. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Some $5,000,000,000 was restored to security values in Wall street today, as the stock market surged upward in the swiftest advance in recent financial history.

This was Wall street's response to news that leaders in financial, business and public life had been summoned to Washington to consider an aggressive program to check the vicious circle of deflation.

12 Per Cent Raise

This sudden bulge in quoted values added more than 12 per cent to stature of shares listed on the New York stock exchange. The extent of this sudden restoration of quoted values is staggering. The figure approximates the total amount of our monetary gold. Furthermore, the estimate, based on price indices, is regarded as conservative.

In many quarters in Wall street, it had been felt that the September decline, which had lopped more than $12,000,000,000 from quoted values in the stock market, was being carried on largely by hysteria, and today's startling about face was indicated as strong evidence of the soundness of that analysis.

Bond Market Recovers

The bond market, normally more staid than stocks, recovered substantially in active trading. Leading commodities also joined the upturn. Cotton futures sold up more than $2 a bale, and closed with net gains of $1.55 to $1.75. Wheat and corn gained about 1½ to 2 cents a bushel.

Share prices managed to soar almost steadily, with occasional minor dips, and closing prices were near the day's best. The turnover of 4,300,000 shares was one of the largest since last June.

Confidence Restored

The stock exchange authorities took further cognizance of the agitation for checking short selling by ordering members to label all short sales as they are transmitted to the floor of the exchange, and by permitting no such orders to be executed, unless they can be executed without depressing the price of the stock.

It was said in conservative banking and brokerage circles that such a spectacular stock market as today's should be regarded largely as reflecting the correction of a panic psychology, rather than the start of a major upturn, and that it was hoped that a period of stability and quiet would ensue.

Death of Edison Is Expected Soon

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—Death is only a few days away for Thomas A. Edison, his personal physician said today.

A bulletin by Dr. Hubert S. Howe described the mental condition of the "Wizard of Menlo Park" as "lethargic" and said he had lapsed into semi-consciousness.

Dr. Howe's statement was a definite blow to the lingering hope that Edison's life might be prolonged. Only last night the physician's bulletins were of a more optimistic tenor.

Although Edison is fighting the effects of diabetes, Bright's disease and a stomach ailment, believed to be gastric ulcers, it was the uremic poisoning, Dr. Howe indicated, which is the chief obstacle to recovery.

Detroit Physician Reported Missing

Detroit, Oct. 6 (AP)—The automobile of Dr. Benjamin J. Bryant, 64, Detroit physician, was found tonight on the Ambassador bridge, unoccupied and the motor running, shortly after two pedestrials reported they heard a splash in the Detroit river below.

His wife said he left home about 7:45 o'clock. He had not returned at midnight.

KNOLL SENTENCED.

Grand Haven, Mich., Oct. 6. (AP)—Leonard Knoll, Holland grocer who was convicted of wilfully accepting money stolen by robbers who held up the Hudsonville State bank, was sentenced today to serve from two and a half to five years in Michigan state prison at Jackson. An appeal is pending.

Foreign Minister Curtius Resigns Post Under Fire

Berlin, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dr. Julius Curtius, who succeeded the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann as foreign minister in October, 1929, and kept in force the Stresemann policy of conciliation with Germany's wartime enemies, today submitted his resignation to Chancellor Heinrich Bruening.

His withdrawal came after bitter criticism, especially by National Socialists and Nationalists, who objected because he approved Germany's abandonment of the proposed Austro-German customs pact. The foreign minister also was attacked on his policy of friendship with France.

JOBS FOR ALL, DAVIS URGES

Fear Keeping American Dollar Lazy, Senator Declares

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 6. (AP)—Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, called upon Americans today to quit "cheese-nibbling" methods of relieving unemployment and organize to provide work for all. He expressed opposition to the dole system.

The former secretary of labor, speaking before the national convention of the American Federation of Labor, said fear was the factor that was keeping the American dollar the laziest instrument in the country. A forward step, he said, would be "elimination of wildcat financing and stock juggling."

"I believe in extending help in times of need," he said. "If we have a catastrophe, an epidemic or any condition beyond the control of man or the government set up by man, I would be willing to hock the gold on the dome of the capitol at Washington to take care of the distressed people.

"But to syphon money out of the treasury for a continuous dole, and thus place a heavier burden of tax on the backs of the workmen, as is the vogue now in foreign countries and which to my mind destroys individual initiative and ruins the morale of a nation—I am opposed to it."

Police Seek Man On Assault Charge

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—When police battered their way into his Tammany club at 2 a. m. one day five years ago, Sheriff Thomas J. Farley told the Hofstadter legislative committee today, the men discovered in the place were winding ribbons on May poles and not gambling. They also, he said, were packing baseball bats and skip ropes in preparation for a children's party.

The sheriff denied there ever had been any gambling in his club, although previous witnesses had testified about games for high stakes in the club, run by professionals.

Textile Workers Decide to Strike

Lawrence, Mass., Oct. 6. (AP)—Approximately 20,000 textile workers walked the streets, idle, this afternoon as a result of a strike which resulted in the closing of three of the major mills in this vicinity. Three other of the large mills were seriously affected by the walkout.

Although the strikers for the most part were orderly, ten men were arrested charged with trespassing and intimidating workers.

WOULD MAKE IDLE CAPITAL GO TO WORK

EMERGENCY CREDIT CORPORATION PLANNED

The Associated Press

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—A new credit structure, with wide authority to put idle capital at work for economic recovery, was outlined by President Hoover tonight at an epochal White House conference with members of congress.

Washington, Oct. 7. (AP)—Formation of a new credit organization to draw out frozen assets, broadening of the facilities of the federal farm loan board, and a liberalization of the rediscount provisions of the federal reserve system were proposed by President Hoover last night at a White House conference with congressional chiefs.

As the conferees left the executive mansion shortly after midnight it was said there was general agreement as to all of these points on which legislation eventually will be necessary.

Some differences developed at the beginning of the discussion, which was in progress for three months, but in the end even the Democratic senators and representatives, who yesterday had shown some doubt, expressed their willingness to go along with the president's proposals.

No Special Session.

The general understanding among them was that no special session of congress would be called, but that Mr. Hoover would rely on the assurances given at the conference and go ahead with his plans.

As the congress members left the White House the president was preparing to issue a statement.

The meeting was informed that private bankers already had pledged $150,000,000 for a corporation to relieve frozen assets.

A total capitalization of $500,000,000 is contemplated for this corporation which will have wide discretionary powers to make loans and rediscount paper.

If the total capital is not subscribed privately, the government will stand ready to fill it out along the lines of the war finance corporation which handled a similar situation during the war.

While details were left for further study, the amount of additional capital mentioned as needed for federal farm loan banks was $60,000,000.

Details Not Disclosed.

The details were not immediately disclosed, but in one well-informed quarter they were said to be:

Creation of a $500,000,000 corporation, to be known as the emergency credit corporation, authorized to loan at its discretion to any financial institution.

Subscription of the stock of this corporation, in whole or in

Swope Offers Plan To Guarantee Work

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 6. (AP)—A plan which virtually will guarantee six month's employment beginning Nov. 1 has been offered to shop employes of General Electric Co., Gerard Swope, president, announced today.

The new proposal, which is called a "plan to prevent further layoffs for lack of work," is to be voted on by employes of the company who are members of the General Electric unemployment pension plan, which embraces the great majority of shop employes of the company.

As described by Mr. Swope, the plan is "to so divide the work that there will be no further layoffs for lack of work between Nov. 1, 1931, and April 30, 1932, without compensation; and that all those on the payroll Nov. 1, 1931, will receive during this period not less than the equivalent of one-half of their average weekly earnings for full time, but in no case more than an average of $15 a week. If actual earnings are above that average, however, the employe is to receive his actual earnings."

STATIONS HELD UP

Ionia, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—Three armed men early today held up attendants and escaped with $34 at two filling stations directly across from each other at the intersection of US-16 and M-14. The men obtained $20 at the station where Earl Peasley was attendant and $14 at the second where Wilber Doty was on duty. The attendants were carried down the road in an automobile and ordered to jump over a fence into an adjacent field.

Text of Hoover's Statement Given After Conference at White House

Washington, Oct. 7 (Wednesday) (AP)—The text of the statement made by President Hoover early this morning follows:

"The prolongation of the depression by the succession of events in Europe, affecting as they have both commodity and security prices, has produced in some localities in the United States and apprehension wholly unjustified in view of the thousand-fold resources we have for meeting any demand.

"Foolish alarm in these sections has been accompanied by wholly unjustifiable withdrawal of currency from the banks.

"Such action results in limiting the ability of the banks in these localities to extend credit to business men and farmers for the normal conduct of business but beyond this to be prepared to meet the possibility of unreasoning demands of depositors the banks are compelled to place their assets in liquid form by sales of securities and restriction of credits so as to enable them to meet unnecessary and unjustified drains. This affects the conduct of banking afield.

"It is unnecessary to specify the fortunate consekuences of such a situation in the districts affected both in its further effect on national prices of agricultural products, upon securities and upon the normal conduct of business and employment of labor.

"It is a deflationary factor and a definite impediment to agricultural and business recovery.

"There is no justification for any such situation in view of the strength of our banking system and the strong position of our federal reserve system. Our difficulty is a diffusion of resources and the primary need is to mobilize them in such a way as to restore in a number of localities the confidence of the banker in his ability to continue normal business and to dispel any conceivable doubt on the mind of those who do business with him.

"In order to deal with this wholly abnormal situation and to bring about an early restoration of confidence, unity of action on the part of our bankers and cooperative action on the part of the government is essential. Therefore, I propose the following definite program of action, to which I ask our citizens to give their full cooperation.

"1. To mobilie the banking resources of the country to meet these conditions, I request the bankers of the nation to form a national institution of at least $500,000,000. The purpose of this institution to be the redis-

PACIFIC FLIERS GET LITTLE REST

Pangborn and Herndon Are Feted; Fly to Seattle Today

Wenatchee, Wash., Oct. 6 (AP)—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., found out today there isn't much rest for air heroes.

The young men who landed their big red monoplane here yesterday, 41 hours and 13 minutes after leaving Samushiro Beach, Japan, to be the first to cross the Pacific ocean nonstop by plane, were kept busy discussing future plans, receiving acclaim and relating their experiences.

Although the fliers have been declared ineligible to receive a $28,000 prize posted for a nonstop flight from Tokyo to Seattle, a movement was on foot to have the rules waived and pay the money to Pangborn and Herndon, who already have been given $25,000 by a Tokyo newspaper Asahi. They plan to go to Seattle tomorrow.

Former Hancock Player Helping Cards' Manager

Hancock, Mich. — Hancock's older baseball fans, particularly those who followed the sport when professional baseball was played here, had a pretty fair mental picture of what was happening yesterday on the sidelines in St. Louis when the Cardinals defeated Connie Mack's Athletics 2 to 0. They visioned Clyde "Kid" Wares, his cap on one side of his head and a huge wad of gum in his mouth, prancing in a coaching box, admonishing Cardinal batters and runners and occasionally telling Mr. Earnshaw of the Athletics what he though of him as a pitcher.

Mention of "Kid" Wares may mean nothing to Hancock's younger baseball element, but for their information it might be said that the Cardinal coach is a former Hancock ball player, who got his professional start at the Driving park. Wares came to the Hancock club in the old Northern league as a youngster to hold down the shortstop position. He soon became rated as the best shortstop in the eight team circuit and later was elected captain of the Hancock team. From Hancock, Wares went to the American association and later to the Western league. He also was a member of the St. Louis Browns for some time.

Wares is one of the several old professional stars here whose personal appearance and antics when coaching left an impression on the older fans. With his cap adjusted in the fashion that Nick Altrock wears his, and his mouth filled with gum, Wares was the busiest player on the field when coaching and invariably was an attraction in himself. He was a prime favorite with the fans and from recent newspaper accounts is still as energetic and popular as Gabby Street's assistant.

Wares is one of several players from the old Northern league who eventually landed in the majors. With his name can be associated those of Bill Wambsganns, formerly of Hancock and later with the Cleveland Indians; Kirke, of the old Lake Linden team; Johnny Sunheim, formerly of Houghton; Slim Lewis, Calumet outfielder who got a chance in the east; and Jack Lelivelt, later manager of the Milwaukee Brewers and now with the Los Angeles Angels.

The old Northern league played Class D ball and the sale of its stars to major league clubs and other faster circuits was what pulled many of its teams out of the red when the league disbanded. Dwindling patronage and high salaries were responsible for the abandonment of the league, but many of the towns in the circuit came out without losing money because of the returns they got from the sale of their stars. The majority of these deals were made through the late Garry Herrman, a major league mogul for many years.

Police Found No Gambling At Club

Fowlerville, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—State police and a large posse of citizens tonight were searching the woods near here for a man who assaulted Mrs. C. R. Ward about 30, in the basement of her farm home near here late today and left her unconscious and seriously injured.

All available state troopers dispatched from Lansing to aid in the manhunt. Feeling ran high, intensified by the fact a similar attack on a small girl occurred two weeks ago, her assailant escaping.

Mrs. Ward's two small daughters said their mother was followed to the basement by the man, who entered the house unannounced. There he struck her on the head with a revolver, beat her and kicked her before committing the attack. She was taken to a Lansing hospital, her condition serious.

day's Democratic primary, 2,398 to 2,083.

Eldred did not make prohibition an issue in the campaign, but was accepted by prohibitionists as a dry.

Mershon advocated modification of the prohibition laws.

Unless Hart should overcome the traditional Republican majority of the district, Eldred will become the district's first representative from one of the smaller counties in nearly half a century. The district includes Saginaw, Shiawassee, Clinton, Gratiot, Ionia and Montcalm counties.

Wet Issue Campaign

Hart had made known his intention of waging a strenuous campaign and is expected to make prohibition one of the principal issues. Although Eldred has made no pronouncement on prohibition, he is expected to have the support of dry forces within the district.

Eldred polled 5,794 votes to 4,101 for Arthur E. Hagen, of Owosso, who also was listed as a dry.

Third was William H. Smith, of St. Johns, also listed as dry, with 3,971 votes. Chester M. Howell, of Saginaw, who advocated a prohibition referendum, was fourth, with 3,722 votes. The Rev. Andrew H. Harnly, Saginaw, a dry, was fifth with 3,234.

Other Votes Scattered

The remaining votes were divided as follows: Arthur W. Ganschow, Saginaw, an advocate of prohibition repeal, 3,045; H. S. Babcock, Alpena, listed as dry, 1,640; James N. McBride, Burton, listed as dry, 1,473; Frank E. Bastian, Saginaw, referendum advocate repeal, 1,065; Joseph J. Fordney, Saginaw, an advocate of prohibition repeal, 643; Glenn R. Wilson, Saginaw, who advocated a referendum, 362; Earl Miles, DeWitt, listed as dry, 207; and George J. Hicks, Saginaw, also listed as a dry, 180.

BRITONS WILL VOTE OCT. 27

To Decide Whether MacDonald's Government Will Continue

BY FRANK H. KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 6 (AP)—Great Britain's 30,000,000 men and women voters will go to the polls in a general election October 27 to decide whether the nation, torn by financial and economic ills, shall continue to be ruled by Ramsay MacDonald's national government.

After many days of political uncertainty, Prime Minister MacDonald today announced the government's program to the house of commons, which will be dissolved tomorrow.

Tomorrow evening Mr. MacDonald will appeal over the radio for the nation's support—and the campaign in which much stored-up party bitterness is expected to be unloosed, will be under way.

The whole fight will turn on confidence in the present cabinet. The Labor party is almost solidly ranged against its old leader.

The prime minister achieved an initial victory by carrying his whole national cabinet into the campaign without a resignation. But there is little unity beyond the cabinet itself.

Over the radio tomorrow night the prime minister will state his case in the broadcast possible terms and will ask for the continuation in office of the National government to nurse the nation back to health.

part, by the treasury department.

Supervision of the corporation by a board of five directors, with government officials authorized to serve.

Authority for the federal reserve board to rediscount all of the corporation's obligations.

In effect, the new institution would operate much as the war finance corporation did in the war years.

The proposal is designed to circumvent some of the restrictions which now hamper credit by permitting the liquidation of credits frozen in bank vaults, and at the same time to stimulate public confidence and draw from its hiding places many millions of capital.

More Elastic Credit.

Under present restrictions, the federal reserve board is unable to accept for rediscount certain classes of securities of institutions known to be perfectly sound.

Furthermore, the existence of these restrictions has compelled banks of undoubtedly position to keep an exceptionally liquid condition, to the disadvantage both of themselves and their clientele.

Still beyond this lies the fact that other millions in gilt-edge paper is locked up in receivership of banks which are insolvent, and cannot be brought into the channels of trade because of the limitations surrounding rediscount.

All these handicaps the plan proposes to overcome by the substitution of a more elastic credit basis, so that the money which the country has in abundance can be brought into use for the restoration of confidence and the revival of trade.

evicted and commenced carrying the furniture back into the house. A watchman, placed to guard the house and its effects, had not been accounted for.

Police Lieutenant Owen E. McAdams, in charge of a cruising squad, halted to investigate the proceedings. Two patrolmen were immediately attacked by the mob, and the lieutenant was swept off his feet as he attempted to go to their rescue.

The mob surged over the lieutenant and his two officers, trampling and beating them. The patrolmen regained their feet and fired several shots in the air to frighten off their assailants. A woman, the officers reported, screamed, "Let's get them."

This was apparently the signal for one of the members of the mob to open fire, and Lieutenant McAdams was shot in the arm and leg.

Drawing his gun, the police officer managed to exchange shots with his assailant and John Grayford, 54, fell probably mortally wounded. At the hospital it was reported he had little chance for recovery, being shot through the abdomen and above the heart.

London's Jobless Battle With Police

London, Oct. 6. (AP)—A crowd of the unemployed using sticks, stones and firecrackers, battled with mounted police in front of the British museum in the heart of London today.

Unable to resist the relentless charging of the horses at a gallop and clubbing by police batons, the crowd, screaming and cursing, finally marched to Hyde park, where it was served a free meal, and then went home.

The disorder began when the constabulary appeared and ordered the crowd, which had been marching down Drury Lane, gathering new recruits constantly and singing "The Red Flag," to disperse.

count of banking assets not now eligible for rediscount at the federal reserve banks in order to assure our banks, being sound, that they may attain liquidity in case of necessity, and thereby enable them to continue their business without the restriction of credits or the sacrifice of their assets.

"I have submitted my proposal to the leading bankers of New York.

"I have been advised by them that it will receive their support, and that at my request they will assume the leadership in the formation of such an organiation. The members of the New York City clearing house association have unanimously agreed to contribute their share by pledging $150,000,000, which is two per cent of their net demand and time deposits.

"I have been assured from other large centers, as far as I have been able to reach, of their support also. I consider that it is in the national interest including the interest of all individual banks and depositors that all the banks of the country should support this movement to their full responsibility.

"It is a movement of national assurance and of unity of action in an American way to assist business, employment and agriculture.

"2. On September 8th I requested the governors of the federal reserve banks to endeavor to secure the cooperation of the bankers of their territory to make some advances on the security of the assets of closed banks or to take over some of these assets in order that the receivers of those banks may pay some dividends to their depositors in advance of what would otherwise be the case pending liquidation.

"Such a measure will contribute to free many business activities and to relieve many families from hardship over the forthcoming winter, and in a measure reverse the process of deflation involved in the tying up of deposits. Several of the districts have already made considerable progress to this end, and I request that it should be taken up vigorously as a community responsibility.

"3. In order that the above program of unification and solidarity of action may be carried out and that all parts of the country be enlisted, I request the governors of the federal reserve banks in each district to secure the appointments of working committees of bankers for each reserve district to cooperate with the New York group and in carrying out the other activities which I have mentioned.

"4. I shall propose to the congress that the eligibility provisions of the federal reserve act should be broadened in order to give greater liquidity to the assets of the banks, and thus a greater assurance to the bankers in the granting of credits by enabling them to obtain legitimate accommodation on sound security in times of stress. Such measures are already under consideration by the senate committee upon currency and banking.

"5. Furthermore, if necessity requires, I will recommend the creation of a finance corporation similar in character and purpose to the wars finance corporation, with available funds sufficient for any legitimate call in support of credit.

"6. I shall recommend to congress the subscription of further capital stock by the government to the federal land banks (as was done at their founding) to strengthen their resources so that on the one hand the farmers may be assured of such accommodation as he may require and on the other hand their credit may be of such high character that they may obtain their funds at low rates of interest.

"7. I have submitted the above mentioned proposals which require legislation to the members of congress whose attendance I was able to secure on short notice at this evening's meeting—being largely the members of committees particularly concerned—and they approve of them in principle.

"8. Premier Laval of France is visiting the United States. It is my purpose to discuss with him the question of such further arrangements as are imperative during the period of the depression in respect to inter-governmental debts. The policy of the American government in this matter is well known and was set out by me in a public statement on June 20th in announcing the American proposal for a year's postponement of debt payments.

"Our problem in this respect is one of such adjustment during the period of depression as will at the same time aid our own and world recovery. This being a subject first of negotiation with foreign governments was not submitted for determination at this evening's conference.

"9. The times call for unity of action on the part of our people. We have met with great difficulties not of our own making. It requires determination to overcome these difficulties and above all to restore and maintain confidence. Our people owe it not only to themselves and in their own interest, but they can, by such an example of stability and purpose give hope and confidence in our own country and to the rest of the world."

WORLD SERIES FOES EVEN UP, 2 GAMES EACH

Fingered) Brown of the Cubs pitched two hit games on successive days.

Of the four games played so far only the first was below standard in mound work, with both Grove and Derringer hit hard. Hallahan, hero of the second game triumph of the Cards, will be back on the firing line tomorrow, opposed probably by George (Rube) Walberg, giant south southpaw of the A's who has yet to be seen in action.

As it turned out, one run was enough for Earnshaw today but the A's big guns made it more convincing by staging one of their hitting drives in the sixth to chase Johnson from the mound.

Simmons Hits Fence

That first and deciding run was produced in the first inning when Al Simmons hit the left field wall with a rousing two bagger that scored Max Bishop, who had singled and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Mule Haas.

Johnson, a side-arm right hander starting his first world series contest, steadied and was highly effective for the next four innings. He retired the first two dangerous men, Cochrane and Simmons, in the sixth before the lid was blown off by Foxx.

The giant first baseman of the A's rammed a high hard one out of the park, clearing the left field double decked stands by many feet with what Connie Mack described as the "longest hit I have ever seen in the world series."

Bing Miller walloped a double against the scoreboard and romped home with the third run on a single to left by Jimmy Dykes. The light-hitting Bib Williams, kid shortstop, also singled and this was the signal to derrick Johnson. Jim Lindsey, big right hander, stopped the rally by fanning Earnshaw. He pitched one more inning without much damage but was removed for a pinch hitter and young Paul Derringer, victim of the Athletics in the first game, retired the side in order in the eighth.

Martin Gets Only Hits

Pepper Martin and Frank Frisch, rookie and veteran, the fast two base runners of the Cardinal clan, were the only men Earnshaw had to do any worrying about. They were the only Red Birds, in fact, to reach base.

Martin singled to left in the fifth and doubled to the left field wall in the eighth for the only safe blows off the ace of the A's. The youngster thereby ran his total of safe drives up to nine in four games.

Pepper stole his fourth base of the series off Cochrane, after hitting safely in the fifth, with one out. Earnshaw and his backstop kept the rookie glued to the bag while Wilson was being retired on strikes but with Gelbert at bat, Pepper finally broke away and stole second easily with a head first dive. Cochrane's throw hit into the dirt six feet from the bag. Martin came up coated with dirt and the crowd gave him a great hand.

One run would tie the score at his juncture and Earnshaw took matterns in his own hands by fanning Gelbert. Big George had done the same thing in the fourth frame when he struck out Bottomley for the third out after Frisch had obtained Earnshaw's only pass and stolen second on a close play.

Martin Applauded

There was nothing much for Earnshaw to worry about, meanwhile, until Martin came up in the fourth. By this time the crowd was cheering the youngster as enthusiastically as if he was the pride of the home town. This time Martin swung from his heels and plastered a fast ball up against the wall near the left field line for a double. Bearing down, Earnshaw forced Wilson to sky to Miller. Gelbert raised a high foul that Cochrane caught at the edge of the stands behind the plate. Martin was still anchored to the middle bag and he stayed there as Earnshaw struck out Jimmy Collins, pinch hitting for Lindsay, on three pitched balls, that fairly blazed past the batsman.

Bottomley Fans Twice

In the six of the nine innings Earnshaw retired the side in order. His control, his curve and his "high hard one" had all but Martin fooled. Even Pepper was victimized once, striking out in his first turn at bat in the second inning. Altogether Earnshaw fanned eight Cardinals, including Jim Bottomley twice.

The players now have completed their participation in the big money pool, which is limited to the first four games. The contending clubs, as well as other first division outfits in the two leagues, will "cut" slightly more than $320,000.

Local Window Club Loses Soft Perch!

The window club has lost a soft seat, but being gentlemen, the members all approve of the innovation and admit the error of their ways.

From time immemorial, members of the window club felt privileged as Escanaba business and professional men to sit on top of the newspaper shelf. They didn't mind the lumpiness or the wrinkling of the papers, and never felt offended over interruptions caused when someone came to get a newspaper and pulled it out from under them. They cheerfully leaned over to let people peek over their shoulders at the magaine rack, but they held their seats, for many momentous questions of world wide importance are decided by the window club.

Now a moulding with a very sharp upper edge has been affixed to the upper side of the newspaper shelf, and sitting can only be done by those wearing fur coats or suits of armor.

The window club no longer sits on the newspapers, but the members admit that maybe the arrangement is better for the store, and anyway, there is plenty of room on the radiators.

Girls Steal Ride, But It Proved to Be the Wrong One

The scene is Ludington street of a morning.

Characters: Two Escanaba office girls, hurrying to their jobs in a public building.

First girl—"Gee, we're late."

Second girl—"There's the boss, going in the postoffice."

First girl—"Where's his car?"

Second girl—"That tan one, parked at the curb."

First girl—"Shall we ride?"

Second girl—"Sure. Let's get in and crouch down in the back seat and give him a surprise when he gets to the office."

First girl—"Here's one day we ride to work with the boss without an invitation."

The girls take their places in the tan sedan and slide down out of sight, but it turns out to be the wrong tan car!

The boss comes out of the postoffice, gets in another tan automobile nearby and drives away. Just about that time the real owner of the sedan in which the girls are seated comes up and drives away—in the opposite direction. The girls register consternation; they aren't getting to work on time. Then the other driver notices his passengers. He turns out to be a perfect gentleman, however, and instead of telling the hitch-hikers to get out and get going he drives them to their office.

Moral: Always look twice when choosing husbands or automobiles.

Surplus Crops Put in Cans for Winter

Grand Rapids (AP)—They are working 24-hour shifts in Grand Rapids, turning out canned fruits and vegetables at the rate of 1,500 cans per day for the use of the needy during the coming winter months.

The produce, obtained without cost from farmers who are unable to utilize their surplus crops, is being canned by 65 women and 25 men—persons receiving relief from the city but those whose status prevents them from working under the city plan of giving artificially created municipal jobs to the unemployed. The work is being done under the direction of Guy E. Northrup, director of social service.

The project was undertaken in the face of a handicap—the scarcity of jars and bottles into which the canned produce may be placed. Stores have been sold out throughout the city and jars are being brought by home and farm canners as soon as they appear on shelves. Schools are co-operating in the attempt to keep the canners supplied with jars by appealing to parents of the students to give or lend unneeded jars and bottles.

Just how much produce will be canned for the winter's use is largely a matter of guesswork. Mr. Northrup has said that with more and more produce coming in daily, it would be impossible to make an estimate, but it is certain the total will be many thousand quarts. Later he plans to canvass the farms for surplus cabbages to be converted into sauerkraut.

The food, he said, will be distributed without cost to the needy this winter and will not be sold in return for the scrip in which persons on the emergency payroll are paid.

MILLER'S BARN NEARLY READY

Modern Structure to Replace Plant Destroyed by Fire

Newberry, Oct. 6 (Special)—The new dairy barn being constructed by Fred Miller, Luce county Guernsey breeder, will be completed in about ten days when he will be able to move his herd in from the pasture where they have been kept since fire destroyed the whole plant on August 14. Considerable improvement has been made over the old plant. The neew barn 36 by 116 feet as compared with 36 by 80 of the former structure. It is 35 feet high in the center leaving space for a large hay storage above the cow barn which is outfitted with Starr equipment to care for 60 head of cattle. The barn has concrete floors throughout, plenty of light and air, and facilities for keeping everything easily cleaned feature the new outfit.

Power for the milking machine is generated in a small room built to the west of the main structure and there is plenty of space at the north end of the barn for the handling of the milk cans during the milking periods.

A boiler room and a washing and bottling room are separate from the barn. In the milk room nothing will be handled except the milk and its cooling, separating and bottling equipment making the sanitation ideal. There is also a three car garage and on the extreme west end is located the horse barn.

The construction has been under the supervision of James Temperley of Detroit. The work was started on September 12 and all labor was hired locally.

SEWER PROJECT

The new sewer, running from the Tahquamenon river to Railroad street just south of the tracks is about done, only a pair of catch basins being left to complete. The work was started on July 15 and the sewage from the village and the state hospital was turned into the new main on Saturday afternoon. Ted Anderson, engineer in charge of the work, states that the new main is able to carry six times as much as it is now doing and that it should answer for both the village and the hospital for all time, or at least as far as it is possible to forsee growth.

Work will be started this week on reclaiming the 12 inch tile of the old line. Whether or not this is going to prove successful will not be known until it is started. If the tile should not be worth much after it has been lifted, or if it proves to be a costly job, it will be discontinued. The old line was laid about 30 years ago and runs near where the new sewer is located.

CHURCH MUSIC

Mrs. C. L. Bystrom and Arthur Neu have been engaged for choir directing and piano at the Methodist Episcopal church for the coming year. This is the third year that Mr. Neu, graduate of Northwestern university and supervisor of music for the local schools, has been in charge of the evening church choir.

Mrs. Bystrom is a graduate of Lawrence conservatory and is well known in Negaunee and Ishpeming where her piano playing was much in demand. The morning choir will continue under the direction of Mrs. I. J. Webber.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

Mrs. W. G. Fretz entertained at dinner on Monday night for Mrs. Mary Post who will soon leave for Milwaukee after spending the summer here with her daughter Mrs. C. P. West.

H. R. Sayne, Ernest Miller and Del F. Weir, all of Lansing, were officials visiting the Newberry headquarters of the conservation department on Monday and Tuesday.

The local lodge of Eastern Star will sponsor the picture "The Donovan Kid" at the State theatre on the evenings of October 7 and 8, the cash earned to be used to defray part of the cost of bringing the 1932 convention of the Cloverland district to Newberry. The invitation was given at the last convention held in Marquette.

Mrs. Besley entertained on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Post.

The Misses Gormely, Byrde and Mayoney entertained at bridge at the Gormely home on Monday evening, five tables playing.

THE TAHQUAMENON

The Tahquamenon river is just naturally brown. It is just as dark above Newberry as below the sewer and equally brown above McMillan. The color is due to the iron oxide in it and not to be blamed on pollution. It seems necessary to state this fact after listening to the newspaper men who made the river trip on Sunday. Many of these, especially those from down state, expressed the opinion that it was "too bad that the stream was so dark colored" and suggested that its beauty would be much greater if the water could be cleared to its "natural crystal color."

The word "Tahquamenon" means "golden water" or "black water." The marshland through which it moves much of its length has a rather a heavy deposit of what is commonly called "bog ore" and this gives its oxide to the stream. Not only is the main river so colored but several of its branches are also, one small creek at least having such a heavy deposite that it is opaque if stirred from the bottom. The waters of the Two Heart in the northern part of the county are also a deep golden from the same cause.

The poet Longfellow knew that the Tahquamenon was neither blue nor crystal, but the reason for the coloration was quite different from iron oxide. According to him the stream was discolored when the warriors of all the tribes met on its shores pledging themselves to peace forever and washing the war paint from their faces and bodies. . . . "The warriors. . . . leaped into the rushing river, washed the war paint from their faces. Clear above them flowed the water, clear and limpid from the footprints of the Master of Life descending; Dark below them flowed the water soiled and stained with streaks of crimson as if blood were mingled with it."

There is no doubt that the Tahquamenon will be a better and more beautiful stream when the sewer pollution has been stopped. The village of Newberry is working to do just that thing as rapidly as her resources will allow. But the golden tint of the great stream will remain.

BIG POWER DEAL

ADDITIONAL employment and also increased facilities for providing electric service to the people of the eastern end of the upper peninsula will result from the proposed expansion program of the Edison Sault Electric company, a subsidiary of the American States Public Service Company, which involves an expenditure of about $700,000.

The program includes the acquisition of electric power and light properties at Mackinac Island and St. Ignace, and a joint interest in the Manistique Light and Power company at Manistique. The company's power plant will be doubled in capacity, and about 140 miles of 66,000-volt transmission lines will be constructed from Sault Ste. Marie to St. Ignace and Manistique.

While other industries have been reporting losses or at least decreased earnings, the utilities generally are weathering the depression, showing favorable earnings. Consumption of electric service has slumped little, and as a result the utilities are able to embark on expansion projects at this time the same as in any other period.

Undoubtedly, the Edison Sault company's program was prompted by a desire to meet the increasing demand for light and power service from the rural communities of Chippewa, Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties. The American farmer is getting away from the kerosene lamp, and is also using electric power to do many of the burdensome tasks that previously he did by hand. The number of farms in the nation served by electric high lines has quadrupled in the last ten years, electrification now having reached a total of 640,000 farms.

Agriculture is one of our greatest power users. The department of agriculture has estimated that 16,000,000,000 annual horsepower hours are employed in farm operations. But still the possibilities of farm electrification have been barely scratched. It is stated, on conservative authority, that a good farm should use 500 kilowatt-hours a month. This would give American agriculture 18 billion kilowatt-hours a year. Equipment to utilize this energy would represent an investment of $3,000,000,000, in addition to the capital required to general power and bring it to the farm.

FIRE PREVENTION BEGINS AT HOME

IN SOME European countries the owner of property where a fire originates through carelessness is legally responsible for any damage done to the property of others.

The principle behind the law is worth considering. It places the blame squarely where it belongs—on the individual whose carelessness or neglect is responsible for at least eight out of ten fires. We will never reduce the fire loss until we thoroughly understand that individual responsibility is the key to the entire problem.

This fact has been stressed time and again by public and private organizations. It has found expression in advertising, in the columns of newspapers, in speeches over the radio and from the platform. Our national fire loss averages close to half a billion dollars annually to which must be added the far greater yearly waste of ten thousand lives which fire destroys and loss of business.

We must learn to guard our homes and places of business against fire. It must be made a regular household duty, exactly as we light the furnace or rake the lawn. Poor wiring, refuse left in corners, careless disposal of cigars and cigarettes — these are little things in themselves but they may be the cause of a conflagration.

The American people do not want such a law as the European one cited. And it should not take a law to awaken them to the responsibility which each citizen must accept if we are to control preventable fires.

THE NEW DEER HUNTING LAW

WHEN resident citizens of Michigan apply for a deer hunting license this year they will be asked among many questions two very pertinent ones. Upon a negative answer to both lies the granting of the license. First they will be asked if they have been convicted of a violation of the deer hunting law over the past three years and then if they have accidentally or otherwise wounded or killed by shooting any human being over the past five years. Swearing "no" to both of these questions gets your license.

Although the Legislature was well-intentioned in amending our deer hunting law to include these two provisions there remains some doubt in the minds of those who will have to administer the law as to its constitutionality, although they do believe that the Legislature has power to place reasonable restrictions around hunting privileges to safe-guard the public's interest.

In the first instance they point out that a person convicted of violating our deer law has paid the penalty laid down by the law when the trial judge passed sentence, and it is doubtful if the Legislature has authority to add additional penalties. In the case of a person having accidentally or otherwise wounded any human being by shooting, this is going to give rise to a lot of complications and also bring up the question of legislative authority.

The new law was designed to cut down hunting accidents by making hunters more careful in the handling of firearms, but past records reveal that practically all fatalities and near-fatalities were of an accidental nature and those responsible have suffered more mentally than their victims. It it just to continue reminding them of their misfortune. Then again what is the status of them and who accidentally wounds himself while hunting? Is he to be denied a license? Certainly there should be some discrimination between cases of this nature and those involving two or more persons.

There will be plenty of controversy over this new law, but if it is enforced and saves only a single life by keeping hair-brained hunters out of the woods it will be well worth while. That section depriving deer law violators of the privilege of hunting should stand, for it is aimed to drive the persistent and vicious deer killer out of our game covers.—Detroit News.

Still, there must be a silver lining to the gold situation.

Now if the gold digger only would take a lesson from the currency situation . . .

URUGUAY IN BREAK

On Oct. 7, 1917, Uruguay officially broke relations with Germany by decree of the president.

All of the functionaries were ordered to withdraw from German territory.

The Chamber of Deputies voted in favor of the rupture by 74 to 23. The president of Uruguay previously (June 20) had issued an order announcing that "no American country which, in defense of its own right, should find itself in a state of war with nations of other continents, will be treated as a belligerent."

President Viera, in his message to Parliament, declared that the Uruguayan government had not received any direct offense from Germany, but that it was necessary to espouse the cause of the defenders of justice, democracy and small nationalities.

Uruguay, with other neutrals, had been a sufferer of Germany's U-boat warfare, and Uruguay's international rights had otherwise been disregarded.

❖ GUILTY LIPS ❖

(By NEA Service) By Laura Lou Brookman

CHAPTER XLII

THE big car moved slowly. Norma, her eyes intent on the green traffic light, did not even notice that a woman in the rear of the car was staring at her.

There were other vehicles passing. Norma did not give the limousine a second glance. She did not recognize the woman nor did she notice that the chauffeur, too, was watching her curiously.

When the green light flashed yellow and then to red she lowered the two front wheels of the carriage to the pavement and crossed to the other side of the street.

By this time the big motor car was well down the block. The woman who had stared at Norma was leaning forward. She spoke to the chauffeur sharply.

"Drive home at once, Harvey! I've changed my mind. And hurry—hurry!"

Abruptly the limousine shot forward. Fifteen minutes later it had halted before F. M. Travers' palatial home. The woman rushed up the steps into the house.

"Where is Mr. Travers?" she demanded breathlessly of the butler. Before he could answer she saw Travers in the room beyond. "Frank!" she called. "Oh, I was afraid you'd gone. I'm so glad--!"

"Why, what's the matter?"

His wife started to speak, then glanced over her shoulder and said, "Let's go into your study. I—I must sit down!"

When they were alone a moment later she went on eagerly. "I saw that girl—Norma—on the street! Oh, I know it was she! Harvey drove directly in front of her. And Frank, she was wheeling a baby—!"

Travers' expression had not changed. "We have nothing whatever to do with that girl," he said. "What difference does it make where you saw her or what she was doing?"

"But don't you understand? The baby—it must be Mark's child! Somehow I never thought of such a thing. If it's a boy, Frank—and we've never had a grandchild—oh, think what it means!"

"You're positive it was the same girl?"

"I'm sure of it!"

TRAVERS' indifference was gone. "A grandson!" he repeated. "But we don't know—why she might be a nurse maid. We don't know—"

"Wasn't she a stenographer when Mark married her? Then why would she be a nurse maid? She wouldn't do it. She'd be working in an office somewhere. I don't believe it, Frank. Maybe it's woman's intuition but I feel certain that was Mark's child!"

Travers was on his feet. He moved to the window restlessly and turned. "I know a way to find out quickly enough!" he said. His words were clipped and decisive. Still speaking he picked up the telephone and gave a number.

"Oh, Cromwell," he was saying a moment later. "There's a little matter I'd like to talk to you about. Yes, today, if you can arrange it. Would it be too much trouble to drop around at my home some time this afternoon? Three o'clock? Yes, that's all right. I'll be waiting for you. Thanks, Cromwell. See you at three."

He put down the telephone. "Now," said F. M. Travers with a sigh, "there's nothing about that girl we won't know in 24 hours. Cromwell is the most reliable detective in Marlboro and he keeps his mouth shut."

Mrs. Travers pressed her hands together. "If it really is Mark's son what can we do, Frank? Maybe the divorce was a mistake. Maybe we should have tried some other way!"

"Leave things to me!" her husband said gruffly. "There've been no mistakes and there won't be. We'll get the facts first. If there actually is a child it's a queer thing she didn't come to us for money. Women of that sort always do. No, I can't understand it." He paused thoughtfully. "If you're right," he went on slowly, "if you're right it's high time we knew about it. A grandson, hey? Marks boy! Yes, it's high time we knew about it!"

TUESDAY morning Frederick Stuart arrived late at the office. He came in carrying a traveling case.

"Going to run out to Bedford this afternoon," he said. Bedford was a small town 50 miles distant. "My sister's the most helpless woman in the world. She owns property out there but hasn't the faintest idea how to manage it. Now she's sure the bank's been robbing her. Sent me a telegram this morning and I'll have to go out and find out what's wrong. I hate like blazes to take the time with Abernathy getting here tomorrow!"

Stuart's tone was resentful. It was seldom that he discussed personal affairs and Norma was sure he really was disturbed.

"That manuscript arrived from Terrence Wade," she told him, "and Dorsey's sent a check. They're mailing proof of the cover jacket for 'Waning Moon' next week."

The man nodded, disappeared into his private office. In 10 minutes the buzzer rang and Norma answered.

"Bring your pad," Stuart told her. "Let's see how much of this correspondence we can get out of the way."

For more than an hour Norma's pencil raced to keep up with the rapid-fire dictation. When she returned to her desk she had notes that would keep her busy most of the afternoon.

It was after 11 when her employer emerged. "I'm going to try to make the 11:25," he announced. "Be back in the morning. If anything important comes up I can be reached at Mrs. Helen Frazier's home. You have the address somewhere. Goodby."

He was out of the office, flinging the last words over his shoulder, Norma sighed and put a fresh sheet of paper in her typewriter. If she finished the letters she might be able to get away a little before five o'clock and avoid the nightly rush.

Her fingers flew at the typewriter. Some days it was so easy to be accurate and some days wrong letters jumped continually from the keyboard. Apparently today was to be one of the good ones.

The door leading into the corridor was always open. Norma was not aware anyone had entered until she heard a voice asking, "Is Mr. Stuart in?"

She looked up. A stranger stood in the doorway. A slender, middle-aged man wearing a gray topcoat. He wore rimmed spectacles and he spoke with an eastern accent.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Stuart's just gone out," Norma told him. "Is there any message you'd like to leave."

"What time do you expect him back?"

"I don't think he'll be in until tomorrow morning."

The stranger frowned. "Isn't there some way that I can reach him?" he asked. "I came to Marlboro especially to see him and I've only a few hours. I'm Abernathy of McCleod's Weekly—"

"Oh, Mr. Abernathy! I know Mr. Stuart's been expecting you. He thought you'd be here tomorrow!"

"Yes. That's what I wrote but I managed to save a day from my schedule."

Norma was not listening now. Her eyes were on the clock. Almost 11:20 now! Stuart had said he intended to catch the 11:25. There was a chance—the barest possibility—that she could stop him.

"I'll try to get him for you!" she said. "I'll try it!"

She had the telephone and was giving the number of Union Station. The wait seemed endless. Then she got the call through to the captain of the red caps. "I want you to page Frederick Stuart!" she said excitedly. "He's taking the 11:25 for Bedford. Tell him something's happened at his office and he must come back! It's very important!"

She hung up, realizing that she herself might be delaying the message. Abernathy was still standing, watching her. Suddenly Norma remembered how important this caller was.

"Won't you sit down," she said, rising. "Mr. Stuart was going out of town but if they can reach him I know he'll be back. He was going today especially so he could be here to see you tomorrow. I know he'd feel terribly to miss you! If he gets the message he'll come right back."

THE hands of the clock had shifted. It was exactly 11:25. Norma was telling herself that of course they hadn't been able to find Stuart when the telephone rang sharply.

At the first words she smiled. "Yes, Mr. Stuart," she said. "Mr. Abernathy is here in the office. I was sure you'd want to talk to him. Yes—just a moment." She turned toward Abernathy.

"It's Mr. Stuart. He'd like to speak to you," she said, handing over the instrument.

Within 15 minutes Stuart had arrived. He and the representative of McCleod's Weekly disappeared into the private office. Their session lasted until after Norma's lunch hour. Then the two men went out together and came back late in the afternoon. They were still talking when Norma left at five.

"Good morning!" he greeted Norma. "Fine day, isn't it? You got away last night before I had a chance to tell you how grateful I am that you didn't let me get out of town yesterday."

"I'm so glad they could reach you at the station."

"Well, it was a lucky day all around. Abernathy took the Clark serial along with him. For $6000! Ten per cent commission gives us $600 for the day's work. Not bad? And besides that I've practically made him agree to another serial in the fall."

"Why, that's wonderful!"

"You helped on the job. There'll be a $10 bonus in your envelope on Saturday. And don't forget that I appreciate loyalty."

"Thank you, Mr. Stuart. Thank you ever so much!"

The words of praise, the prospect of $10 more in her pocketbook than she had expected sent Norma at her day's work lighthearted. During the lunch hour she tried to decide whether to apply the bonus on Mark's new carriage or pay it to Chris. It should go to Chris, she concluded finally.

She had not been back in the office an hour when she answered the telephone to hear a hysterical feminine voice which she recognized as Mrs. Carey's.

"What's happened?" Norma cried. "Oh, what is it?"

Mrs. Carey tried to explain. No, she said Mark was not sick. Something was wrong, however. Her words turned into meaningless gibberish. Norma strained to hear, suddenly gave up the effort.

"I've got to go home!" she cried, bursting into Stuart's office. "Something's wrong with the baby—"

She was gone like a flash, downstairs and into a taxicab, urging the driver to go faster. After what seemed endless minutes of agony they reached the apartment.

Norma ran upstairs and flung back the door. Mrs. Carey met her, white-faced.

"The baby's gone!" she gasped.

LYRICS OF LIFE

A GOOD SIGN

It always seems
About the hour,
That I run out
Of faith and cheer,
When sick of dreams
And sore and sour,
And hope's about
To disappear,
That things begin
To ease again,
Not only ease
But start to mend,
Yes, when I'm in
The dumps, right then
Are at an end.
Yes, when I'm down
And out and all
The other things
That people get,
Though fortune frown,
I then recall
A thought that brings
Me comfort yet:
Down at the heel,
I'll soon be gay,
I know again
I'll soon be glad;
That's why I feel
So good today—
I don't know when
I've felt so bad.

'Looking Backward'

OCTOBER 7, 1911.

Frank Krutch and daughter Beatrice of Harris, visited in the city yesterday.

Eight lifers in Michigan prisons have been released by Governor Chase Osborn, during the first five months of his administration, 35 other prisoners released on parole and 26 released on conditional pardons. It is claimed by those in sympathy with the plan, that it is the modern way of treating men convicted of offenses against the law, and it is added that it prevents the prisons to become over crowded. If no prisoners were released until the end of their term it is said that the prisons would have to be enlarged to provide quarters for the convicts.

Mrs. Victor Olson, 1720 Hale Street is the proud mother of the baby that carried off all honors in a baby contest conducted at Kratze's lower store yesterday. Out of a field of 91 contestants, the babe easily surprised the audience, being only seven months old and weighing 21 pounds 11 ounces.

Miss Louise R. Canton and Gardner O'Neil, who eloped from Manistique, were married here today. They will remain here for a few days' honeymoon.

Marquette Boy Burned

Ishpeming—Norman LaPlante, Marquette young man who was severely burned last Wednesday morning in the fire which almost destroyed Carl O. Erickson's garage, was reported, at the Ishpeming hospital yesterday, to have a chance to live.

LaPlante, in company with Emil Anderson, also of Marquette, entered the Erickson garage and took gasoline from the tank of one of two cars and while endeavoring to replace a drain plug LaPlante asked Anderson to give him a light. The latter struck a match and the interior of the building burst into flames. LaPlante was lying under the car, his clothing saturated with gasoline, and he rolled out from under the car a mass of flames.

Going to Hollywood

Iron Mountain—Once more "Buddy" goes to Hollywood!

Strutting up and down "main street" last night with all the pomp and flourish which his four-foot three would permit, "Buddy" Wedin, diminutive and genial, proudly exhibited a letter received by him from Hollywood:

It was from the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Producing company at Hollywood — more familiarly known as RKO—and it asked if "Buddy" was "available for a picture."

"Am I available?" Buddy smiled to a group of friends. "Watch me," and he raced for the telegraph office. His reply was short and to the point. It read:

"Yes. Send transportation."

Up to midnight last night Buddy has received no reply to that. But he was still hoping for the best.

Going to Shanghai.

Menominee — Robert S. Weidemann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Weidemann, 1530 Sheridan road, is to leave Menominee tomorrow night for Shanghai, China, where he has accepted a position with the China Finance Corp.

Weidemann will join in China his cousin, John W. Wells II, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wells, who is employed in Shanghai by a company affiliated with the China Finance Corp.

Weidemann, who has been employed since graduation from the University of Michigan by Halsey, Stuart & Company, in Chicago, is to sail from Vancouver Oct. 10 on the Empress of Japan. He will start his new work November 1.

Report's to Pittsburgh.

Sault Ste. Marie—Clarence "Taffy" Abel, giant defense ace of the Chicago Black Hawks, received orders yesterday to report to Pittsburgh October 15, for the beginning of a month's practice for the opening of the hockey season November 15.

Taffy said this morning he was leaving October 13 for Pittsburgh. Taffy said his weight is a little over that of last winter but that after a month's practice he will weigh close to last winter's mark.

Taffey also commented on the fact that Vic Desjardins and Art Sommers, two teammates, had gone to New York this winter. The big defense player said there was nothing official about the report.

Reforestation Can Aid Unemployment

East Lansing (AP)—A suggestion that communities and individuals turn to reforestation projects as a method of relieving unemployment has been made by Professor P. A. Herbert, of the forestry department of Michigan State college.

The fall season of reforestation is now under way. Professor Herbert points out the plan has none of the features of the dole nor does it offer merely a characteristic job. Trees will return profits, he says, to sponsors of reforestation projects, furnish cover for game, and provide recreational facilities.

The Michigan State college expert is not fearful of timber overproduction. He is convinced that many farmers should curtail their crop production and perhaps plant trees.

Millions of small seedlings and transplants are available at the college nursery here, and at the forestry experiment station at Dunbar in the upper peninsula for plantings. They are furnished to the planter at the actual cost of production. White pine seedlings from five to seven inches long are selling for $4 a thousand.

Fliers Describe Their Dash Over the Pacific

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5 (AP)—The Seattle Times today published the following account of the Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn Japan-to-America flight as obtained from the two fliers:

"It was the ice that nearly stopped us. It froze on the wings of our plane shortly after we passed over Dutch Harbor and although it was dark, we could feel the added weight piling up. It slowed down the plane, but we kept her nose straight ahead, where we knew was the mainland, and sure safety. The old bus picked up the extra load and kept right on going and we knew we were going to be all right.

Eating Was Slim

"That was the only time we had any trouble at all on the long trip. In fact, except for the sleep we missed and the slim meals, it wasn't such a hard thing to do. The engine never missed and we had plenty of gasoline and we just kept sailing on.

"We got off to a fine start from Japan, thanks to the aid of the Japanese newspaper, Asahi, and the six mechanics they sent up to Samushiro to tune up our machine. As a matter of fact we don't know just how we did manage to get a permit to leave Japan after our arrest there. They fined us for flying over Jananese fortifications and taking pictures. But it must have been the influence of the newspaper. The takeoff was perfect on the hard sand of the beach.

Only Water to See

"When out of sight of land, we detached our landing gear and it dropped into the sea. The plane spurted ahead as this load dropped and it gave us a lot more mileage and better speed, just as we figured.

"We had a thermos bottle of tea and three thermos bottles of warm water and some sandwiches. The weather was fine and it was smooth flying as we headed into the east with the miles slipping away behind us. About an hour out, we passed Cape Erimo. . . .

"From then on, it was just water and more water and it kept getting colder as we put more miles between us and Japan.

"We flew into the night with our good luck holding and the weather kind to us. We found that our tea and water had frozen but we managed to make a little tea in the cabin at times. We also ate some of the sandwiches but saved most of them for the long day ahead.

Met the Night

"There was one thing about the flight. We got cheated of our share of the daylight. We kept flying into the east and at the speed we were hitting, well over 100 miles an hour, it shortened our days as we met darkness coming to us.

"This first night we passed over the Aleutians in the darkness and didn't see them. At dawn we saw some mountains below us and then Dutch Harbor, at least we suppose it was Dutch Harbor. It was then we struck the ice. We were up very high, more than 5,000 feet, but we didn't want to come down lower so we just plugged along.

"We began looking for the coast ahead, but it didn't show up. Hours passed and it began to worry us that we didn't get a landfall of the mainland. Four hours went by and no coast and finally far ahead we saw the shadowy outlines of land and then quickly, the clear signs of the hills.

Circled Mt. Ranier

"It was about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Soon we were over the trees and wilds of the coast line near Queen Charlotte sound. It looked pretty good and secure but at that if we had had to land, it might not have been so good. That country is rugged and we had no landing gear.

"We changed our course and started down towards Seattle. It grew dark but the faithfulness of the engine cheered us. At times we saw the lights of towns and cities along the coast and then early this morning we got the bright glare of Seattle ahead. The weather had changed by this time and was rather thick but not bad.

"We might have landed in Seattle, but it was pretty thick at that so we headed east. We circled around Mount Ranier three times, deciding what to do. Then we went east again and left the mountains for the flats. We must have been nearly to Spokane when we struck a real thick fog lying low, so we turned back and came to Wenatchee. We were taking a chance landing without any gear, but we circled around, glided down and then let her drop. She nosed up and we thought she was going clear over. Then she settled back and we were safe. . . ."

ROTARY CLUB

The weekly luncheon of the Munising Rotary club was held at the Beach Inn last evening at six o'clock. The committees which have been selecting the potato queens of the various townships were present, as well as were the several candidates for the honor of representing Alger county at the U. P. potato show to be held at Marquette October 20-22.

YOU MIGHT REMEMBER

Thirty-five years ago this fall was a presidential election and Munising was a village of nearly three thousand at that time, with dirt streets from which the stumps had not been all removed. Every branch of industry was organized into labor unions and the chief topic of discussion was the silver question. Local Democrats had a Bryan and Sewall banner, 35 feet in length, stretched across Superior street.

It was no trouble in those days to start an argument and sometimes the argument ended in a fist fight. That political feeling was intense was evidenced by the fact that one local politician who made a speech here on the silver question, straightaway lost his mental poise and had to be shipped out of town.

Political speeches drew packed houses. Nowadays it is a hard job to get a dozen or two to listen to an oration. During September Bryan spoke in Marquette to an audience of 7,000 people. Hundreds went from Munising, many leaving their homes while forest fires blazed all about the village, threatening its destruction.

Stolen Car Squeaks Leads to Recovery

Tampa, Fla., (AP)—If you heard your auto squeaking in the dark would you recognize its "voice"?

M. E. Chapman's car was stolen here. He reported the theft to the police, borrowed a friend's car and started a search of his own.

After driving about the city for an hour or so he suddenly stopped and claimed his car.

"I knew it by the squeaks," he told the police, who confirmed his story and found that the car Chapman heard squeaking was really his.

Favorite Recipe

Betty Ann

The group of recipes given the department by Mrs. Paul DeMille of Perronville includes the following, both excellent recipes:

Apple Marmalade

Eight pounds apples
Ten pounds sugar
Six large lemons
Two quarts water

Slice the lemons, cover them with the water and let stand over night. In the morning put them into a preserving pan, add the apples, peeled, cored and sliced, and boil for one hour. Then add sugar and boil for one and one-half hours longer. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal.

Tomato Preserves

Five pounds ripe tomatoes
Four pounds sugar
Two lemons
Salt

Scald tomatoes and peel, place in a crock or enamel bowl and add sugar. Let stand over night. Drain off the juice and boil it rapidly with two teaspoons ground ginger root until it threads. Add tomatoes and lemons, sliced. Cook preserves until they are thick and clear. They should be a rich red color.

Mrs. Paul DeMille,
Box 42, Perronville.

Mrs. DeMille also sends in the following suggestion.

Start a vinegar jar. In this put all liquid with any fruit juice in it. For instance rinse out the empty jelly glasses or honey jars. When this stands a sufficient length of time to become vinegar, strain, and it will be ready for use. It is surprising how quickly these bits of vinegar making ingredients accumulate.

A request was received Tuesday for a recipe for grape juice from a Betty Ann reader who had a good recipe but has lost it. Will you send your recipe in to the department, call 693, or write it out and mail it to the Press office.

Plan Reception For Rev. and Mrs. Williams

The First Methodist Episcopal church will tender a reception to its pastor, Rev. R. C. G. Williams and to Mrs. Williams, on Thursday evening, Oct. 8, at 7:30 o'clock.

The reception will be held in the church parlors.

There will be a program, including special music and light refreshments will be served during a social hour.

The reception, it is expected, will be attended by a large number of people, of the congregation and outside its membership, in that the invitation to attend is extended to all members and friends of the congregation.

Rev. Mr. Williams recently returned from the Detroit Conference where he received the appointment for the Escanaba church for another year, and is beginning his eighth year of service in this community. Both he and Mrs. Williams are widely known in Escanaba and the reception in their honor Thursday evening will be a matter of satisfaction to their friends in all parts of the city.

A handsome new bird cage is made of wire painted white and stands on a graceful white and gold metal table. The cage is raised several inches above the table top, which is wide enough to make room for a circle of small potted plants. The cage itself is a tall cylinder with a gracefully sloping roof. Bird cages are now being designed to suit period furnishings.

Rosebush In Second Bloom

While a well known Chicago daily comments with pride on a rosebush in a garden in a lower Illinois county which has its second bloom, and on the climate which makes that possible, Escanaba, in northern Michigan, can boast of an even finer rosebush and a much finer climate.

This rosebush is a part of the flower plots on the Hansen & Jensen station grounds on lower Ludington street. It bloomed during the summer, and has been in bloom for a second time for the past two weeks.

Which, Peter Jensen of the firm contends, is much more worthy of comment than any flowers southern Illinois might produce.

B. & P. W. Club to Hear Miss Chapin

The regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club will be held this evening at the Hotel Ludington when Miss Margaret Chapin, executive secretary of the University of Michigan Alumnae association, will be the guest speaker.

It is expected that the attendance will be large as guests are welcome at this open meeting. The cafeteria line will form at 6:15 o'clock as usual.

Rare Mountain Coffees —the World's Choicest, In Which Nature Herself Leaves Out Rank Noxious Oils

IT'S nature's gift that the finest coffee, the rarest flavored coffee and most invigorating is not only the best—but the best for you.

For science now tells us that it is not how much coffee you drink but the kind you drink that affects your nerves and digestion. The finer the coffee the less the after-effect.

The real cause of so-called coffee ills is certain rank, noxious oils that abound in cheap and doubtful coffees.

In the high-grown coffees of Central America these ill effects are absent. You can drink all you want, within reason, of this coffee. Get its fine flavor, its wonderful invigoration, without any anxiety. For in these coffees nature herself leaves out the rank noxious oils.

What Doctors Say

After testing actual samples of Folger's Central American coffee 2,571 physicians* confirm this. And further state that its natural stimulation is actually beneficial.

Just try Folger's for a week. Note its keener, richer flavor—kept always fresh by special key-opening vacuum tins. Note its wonderful invigoration. Note its after-effect. You'll see then why thousands of housewives are turning to this finer, safer coffee every day.

*Signed statements to this effect, from 2,571 physicians who have actually tested Folger's Coffee, are on file in our office.

DEBATE AREAS ARE REVAMPED

Form New Sub-District; Local Trio in Trial Friday Night

The sixth district of the Michigan Debating league has been reproportioned, one new subdistrict being formed and the third subdistrict being reduced, according to word received here by Principal C. C. Strickland, chairman of the third sub-district. The reduction was made because of the overabundance of schools in this district.

The third district now contains only schools of Delta and Schoolcraft counties, including Escanaba, St. Joseph's, Gladstone, Rapid River and Manistique. The new fourth sub-district includes schools in Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac counties—Brimley, Hulbert, Rudyard, Newberry, Pickford, St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie. There are now six subdistricts in the sixth district.

Debating work is progressing nicely here and the first practice argument will be held with Escanaba on Friday evening at Escanaba. Mary Watson, Irene Kee, and Gordon Nelson will be the local speakers in the order in which they appear. It will be the first debate that any of the trio have participated in and they will handle the negative side of the question.

Debate teams have not as yet been picked, and this year it is planned that in place of eliminating those not picked for the squads to form two groups with all debaters continuing to work on material.

A new system will be tried out by the Michigan Debating league for the second and third round of debates, with the idea in view of making the arguments more popular with the public.

The plan is to shorten the debate 30 minutes, limiting it to one hour, instead of 90 minutes as in the past. The constructive argument will be limited to eight minutes, allowing only six minutes rebuttal for the first speaker. If proved successful, the method will be used in the future.

St. Ignace Woman Seriously Injured In Auto Accident

Mrs. Fred Lee, 55, St. Ignace, a former resident of this city was severely injured in an auto accident six miles east of this city on highway U. S. 2 Monday evening when the sedan she was driving tipped over on the road, tearing her left hand and arm to such an extent that the arm had to be amputated between the wrist and elbow. A woman companion riding with Mrs. Lee at the time sustained a cut over her left eye and other minor bruises. Both suffered greatly from shock. The unfortunate accident occurred on a curve between Christensen's gas station and Melican's corner.

Just how the accident happened could not be determined. The car tipped over and slid along the road on its left side, Mrs. Lee's arm being crushed between the car and the pavement. A motorist helped the injured women out of the car and they were taken to the Shaw hospital for medical attention by L. Johnson who was working at the Christensen gas station at the time. Mrs. Lee's condition was described as favorable by the attending physician yesterday afternoon.

Liverool—With success comes—high blood pressure, and often death is the result. Such is the opinion of Dr. John Hay, pdofessor of medicine at Liverpool University. All of which brings on high blood pressure."

SAFECRACKERS CAPTURED HERE

Two Suspects Nabbed By Local Officers; Blew Safe at Marinette

Acting on information received from Marinette county officials, Undersheriff L. B. Chittenden and Chief of Police John Peterson captured two bandits here yesterday afternoon who are believed to be implicated in cracking a safe at the Marinette Country club and are connected with several other robberies, the loot of which amounts to almost $1,000. The men are Ed Forrest, 27, formerly of this city, and Ulric Martell, 39, of Detroit. The sheriff and undersheriff of Marinette county were notified of their capture, arriving here Monday evening to take custody of the men.

Clues to the identity of the robbers were obtained by the watchman at the Marinette Country club who saw them disappear after looting the safe of $250 in cash and obtaining other merchandise. It is also believed that they obtained $25 in cash and other goods including cigars, candy, etc., from a Marinette business place. The thieves continued their depredations in Escanaba by taking merchandise valued at $600 from various merchants.

When found here by local officials, the men were traveling in a car, bearing a Wisconsin license plate, said to belong to Forrest. They had with them a complete camping outfit, but had very little money on the'r persons. Officers believe that part of the booty is cached. Footprints taken at the Marinette Country club are said to tally with those of the men found here.

White Sox Take City Championship of Chicago

HOSE DEFEAT BRUINS, 7 TO 2

American Leaguers Rally in Sixth Inning to Get Six Runs

Chicago, Oct. 6 (AP)—Donie Bush's White Sox, cellar dwellers of the 1931 American League race, are the baseball champions of Chicago.

Donie Bush

Salvaging their only hope of one of the most disappointing campaigns in years, the Bushmen won the city championship today by crushing the Cubs by 7 to 2 in the seventh and final game of their annual battle. It was their first victory in the series since 1926.

Rally in Sixth

The White Sox artillery boomed loudly in the big sixth inning when six runs were scored but the big right hand of Al Thomas was the spark that sent Donie's boys on to victory. Thomas held the third place occupants of the National League to four hits.

The sixth inning was started by Lou Fonseca with a double to left. Blue singled. Reynolds scored with a single. Some comical Cub playing then sent the rally on its big way. Grube sacrificed, Grimm made a futile attempt to catch Reynolds at second and both runners were safe. Kerr beat out a bunt, loading the bases. Thomas flied to Cuyler, scoring Reynolds after the catch, but Hemsley hurled the return throw into left field and Grube scored easily with the fourth run. Cissell singled, scoring Kerr with the fifth. May relieved Smith on the mound for the Cubs at this jnucture but escaped only after another run, Cissell coming in on Fonseca's second hit of the inning.

Sox Have Edge

The Cubs got their first run in the first inning when Cuyler dropped a double to right and scored on Bell's double. Grimm's triple and Hemsley's long fly accounted for the second run in the ninth.

Today's victory was the eleventh in eighteen series for the White Sox. The Cubs have won six, while one was tied.

Eskymo-Maroon Classic In 35th Game Saturday

When Menominee's maroon-clad high school football team arrives in Escanaba Saturday it will be for the 35th game of a struggle that began back in 1897. This is probably the longest series of football games among the high schools of the state. Escanaba has won 14 games and lost 17 to Menominee.

No games were played in the years of 1898, 1908 and 1918. The teams battled to scoreless ties in 1900 and 1919, and in 1908 and 1923 Menominee forfeited to Escanaba. In 1908 the game was awarded to Escanaba by a decision of the upper peninsula scholastic board and in 1923 the award was made by the referee when the Menominee team refused to continue play.

Eskymo Opportunity

Last year the Maroons defeated the Eskymos by a stinging 38 to 0 score, and in the last four years the Escanaba squad has failed to score a single point. But this year is something else again and it appears from the early season dope that Escanaba is in a position to break into the scoring and once more enter the win column of this great upper peninsula classic.

Interest in the Menominee game is without doubt greater than in any game on the local high school schedule. In 1929 attendance at the Menominee game set an all time record of 2,662 paid admissions for a football game in Escanaba. This year's crowd is expected to pass that mark with ease. Arrangements have been made to reserve seats for the fans, the entire grandstand has been laid out in sections and seats may be reserved at the Office Service company.

In the thirty-four games to date Menominee scored a total of 373 points to a total of 182 for Escanaba.

Following is the score, year by year:

1897—Esky 0; Menominee 46.
1898—No game.

PAROCHIALS GO TO MANISTIQUE

First Cloverland Loop Encounter Is Crucial One for St. Joe

On Saturday, Coach Brunelle will take his purple and gold squad to Manistique where St. Joseph's will play its first Cloverland conference game of the year. This will be the second conference game for Manistique, the green and white having won from Munising by a 13 to 0 score on September 26. Because of increased enrollment at Manistique this is the last game the two schools will play as members of the class C conference, next year Manistique will be rated among the class B schools.

So far this season Manistique has a very impressive record with a 54 to 0 win over St. Ignace and wins over Munising and Gladstone both by 13 to 0 margin. The only defeat suffered by the Schoolcraft county crew was at the hands of Escanaba high, 12 to 6.

Important Game

The St. Joe squad on the other hand has only one victory to its credit, a 21 to 6 decision over Vulcan in the season opener, but they held Escanaba to a 0 to 0 tie and have been idle over the last week-end.

Coach Brunelle, who has been pointing his squad for the Manistique game said last night, "In my estimation it is the crucial game in our schedule. A win over Manistique will put St. Joe in a position to win the class C championship."

The Parochials held a long workout in the rain last night. Blocking and tackling were stressed in practice. The coach passed out some new plays to the boys and set to work on a new attack designed to baffle Manistique. The regulars showed up well in spite of the wet weather.

Cripples Return

To add to the cheer in the Brunellmen's camp came word that the team would be able to muster its full strength on the field on Saturday. All of the men out with injuries will again be in uniform. Legault, Brazeau, Sharkey, Kidd and Morin have all recovered sufficiently to assure their availability for the Manistique encounter.

Notes On Series

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—The third base situation for the Cardinals rapidly is getting no better. Jake Flowers replaced the injured regular, Sparky Adams, at the start of the fourth game today after being hit in the face by a ground ball during practice. Flowers lasted only one inning, however, giving way to little Andy High. All of the Card third sackers have been weak in the lead-off role, High collecting the only hit among them in four games.

Pepper Martin, with nine hits out of 14 times at bat, continues to bat at a record pace for world series competition. His four game average is .643. He has stolen four bases and played brilliantly in the field.

When Shibe Park was built, it was regarded as impossible to hit a ball over the left field fence. A double deck stand has since been built and now the burlies are putting the lively ball over, Foxx doing it today.

The attendance today, yesterday and in last year's games were the same—32,295. The management sells all seats and then locks the gates. No standing room is sold.

The weather was again hot and humid. There was no wind, the championship pennant in center field hung limp and the players had to hit the ball to make it carry.

Only three men faced Earnshaw in each of six innings and only four in each of the other three. All three men to get on base reached second and no further.

STATE DRILLS ON DEFENSIVE

Crowley Not Satisfied With Tackling of His Gridders

East Lansing, Oct. 6 (AP)—Sending his men into a defensive scrimmage today for the first time this week, Coach James H. Crowley of Michigan State, was rewarded with one of the poorest tackling exhibitions this fall on the part of his varsity.

After his verbal lashings had failed to check the omissions, Crowley called off the scrimmage and put his material through a live tackling session with freshmen backs running the gauntlet. The varsity was plainly off form for the afternoon and no amount of driving could round the men into shape.

Crowley centered his critical guns on Joe Kowatch and Jerry Jones in the afternoon session. Kowatch showed poorly on watching his man on a passing defense while Jones' tackling was far below the standard demanded by Crowley. The coach finally told the Bay City sophomore to retire and issued a hurried call for Bernard McNutt, the powerful fullback reserve, to take his place.

The men had their rough workout behind closed gates. The coaches were enforcing their secret-practice edict to the letter.

Preceding his scrimmage, Crowley and Assistant Coach Glenn M. Carberry worked with their line in a cool, deliberative plan of defense against Army plans. State's reserves were used for an offensive team in this drill and Crowley pleaded with his men to "get tough" with their classmates.

Abe Eliowitz, the Spartan fullback, was given a long workout with his punting. Crowley believes the Army game will call for a lot of kicking. Eliowitz was only fair in the drill, far below his performance in the Cornell game.

On Sidelines at Grid Camps

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 6 (AP)—Coach Noble Kizer today broke up his two "regular" lines, and put together a combination which may prove to be the Purdue first string forward wall for the remainder of the football season. Moss and Calvert were at ends, Husar and Boswell at tackles, Miller, center, and Westerman and Janecek, guards. Jim Purvis is rapidly recovering from a shoulder injury and will resume his halfback position.

Columbus, O., Oct. 6 (AP)—With several regulars on the hospital list Coach Sam Willaman at Ohio State university continued his search today for available tackles and quarterbacks.

Rosequist and Baumgartner, regular tackles, are on the crippled list and so are Benis and Oliphant, quarterbacks; Gillman, end, and Vidis, halfback.

Chicago, Oct. 6 (AP)—Chicago may start an all-sophomore backfield against Michigan Saturday unless the injured list is erased. In his drill with new plays tonight, Coach Stagg had all sophs in the backfield—Page, Zimmer, Sahlin and Summers. Summers called the signals as Paul Stagg, regular quarterback, has a leg injury and Birney, his reserve, has a cold. Lonnie Stagg, who scouted the Michigan team Saturday, told them such a discouraging story of Michigan's strength that Coach Stagg sent his men through a long defensive scrimmage today.

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 6 (AP)—The Minnesota football squad arrived here today and began devising the attack with which it hopes to trim Leland Stanford at Palo Alto Saturday.

Dr. Boles Rosenthal, former University of California line coach immediately joined the Gopher staff and explained the plays of Pop Warner's Cardinals as he has seen them this season. He outlined an offense he believes will be successful and directed the squad in its drill.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP)—"Reb" Russell, star fullback, got such a severe drubbing from his old Nebraska mates last week that he may be missing from Northwestern's lineup for the important Notre Dam game Saturday. Russell failed to show up for today's drill, his back is lame and he may not get in the big game.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP)—"Watch Purdue's end runs and off guard thrusts," was Prof. Bob Zuppke's football lesson today as he drilled his Illini for the big meeting with the Boilermakers today.

ISHPEMING TO PLAY KEILMEN

Battle Here Saturday at Marble Athletic Field

Gladstone, Oct. 6—Coach Keil's Gladstone high school gridiron warriors will give local fans an opportunity to see them in action at home for the first time this season Saturday when they face Ishpeming.

Incidentally, the game will be played on the school's new gridiron—the Marble Athletic Field.

The Keilmen came out of the Manistique game pretty badly bungled up, and the local mentor was taking things easy during the first two workouts of the week. Damitz, star half, suffered a cracked rib and other injuries and is out for the rest of the season. Froberg, who has been bothered with boils, is still handicapped and Marhonic, one of two veteran linemen on the squad, is the latest victim to suffer from this trouble. Murphy is also pretty badly bruised and has to be treated gently for some time.

The loss of Damitz will be keenly felt and much time was spent this evening attempting to find a man to fill his shoes.

Sarazen Leading Field In Tourney

Salisbury Plains, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—With a par breaking brand of golf, Gene Sarazen today led a field of many of the country's leading players over the first 18 holes of the 72-hole medal play in the J. J. Lannin Memorial open.

Sarazen shot the outgoing nine in 35, one under par, and came home in 33, two under perfect figures, for an 18-hole total of 68 and a lead of one stroke. Three other professionals—Harry Cooper, Willie Klein and Mike Turnesa—were only one to the rear while Cyril Walker of Harrison, N. J., trailed close behind with a 70.

KIPKE'S SQUAD WORKING HARD

Wolverines Seek Defense for Chicago's Flanker Plays

Ann Arbor, Oct. 6 (AP)—Michigan gridiron squad was drilled in defense against University o Chicago flanker plays today. The freshman team trotted through the formations, while Head Coach Harry Kipke told the varsity players and reserves what to expect.

The flanker play is one of Coach Alonzo Stagg's favorites.

Harry Newman still was limping today but worked in a forward passing drill and was getting some long heaves, as was Bil Hewitt, veteran end. Louis Westover, sophomore quarterback, injured his ankle while running down under a pass and was sent to the showers by Trainer Roberts.

Honors for snaring passes today went to Charles DePa[illegible] halfback, who appears to be the fastest man in the [illegible] Baker is tall enough to reach for them and once he gets two fingers on the ball generally holds it. Hodson, Everhardus and Jack Hes on were getting off some long passes.

Kipke plans to hold a scrimmage tomorrow afternoon, with the varsity trying some o its new plays on a picked freshman team. The scrimmage will be behind locked gates, as are all practice sessions this week.

Michigan is figured to take Chicago Saturday if the breaks of the game are even, but no large score is expected. Coach Stagg has some sophomore backs who may be counted upon to give the Wolverines trouble, and Chicago always has been tough for Michigan.

KEEP KISSABLE

WITH

OLD GOLDS

Charming women are first won by OLD GOLDS' appealing taste. But their enthusiasm doubles when they find that OLD GOLDS do not taint the breath or mar the whiteness of pearly teeth.

That's because OLD GOLD is a pure-tobacco cigarette. Made from the finest nature-flavored tobaccos. So good, it needs no added flavoring.

It's "foreign flavoring", not good tobacco, that leaves unwanted aftermaths. Play safe. Smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. They leave nothing behind but pleasant recollections.

BENNY LEONARD WHIPS SILVERS

Former Lightweight King Launches His Comeback Campaign

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
(Ass'd Press Sports Writer)

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Benny Leonard, once king of the lightweights, started the long, rough comeback trail tonight with a somewhat questionable knockout victory over the little known Pal Silvers of New York.

Leonard

Fifteen thousands fans, all that could pack their way into the Queensboro stadium, saw Silvers go down under a flurry of blows in the second round. Referee Arthur Donovan tolled off the count and at ten Silvers got to his feet but Donovan waved him to his corner and lifted Leonard's arm in token of victory as the crowd booed and cheered—mostly the former.

Not Like Old Self

Leonard had a roll of flesh about his waist and appeared to be anything else than the fighter who retired seven years ago as the undefeated lightweight titleholder. He occasionally shot that once famous left to Silvers body in the first round but it clearly was not the Leonard of old.

Two minutes of the second round had passed, the crowd was yelling for action, when Leonard let loose with a flurry of what appeared to be only feather blows and Silver went to the mat. The time-keeper began the count but Silvers made no move to get to his feet until the count of nine.

The decision will go down in the records as knockout for Leonard but the crowd was far from satisfied with the result and even Silvers was ready to carry on but Referee Donovan said "no." It was several minutes before the crowd was content to settle down and watch the eight round semi-windup which ended almost as quickly, Mateo Oso of Spain getting a technical knockout of Jim Darcy of Milwaukee when the referee stopped the fight after fifty two seconds of fighting in the first round.

SAINTS BEATEN BY ROCHESTER

Red Wings Now Have 4to 1 Lead Over St. Paul Club

Rochester, Oct. 6 (AP)—Winning 4 to 3 in the fifth game of the little world series here today, the Rochester Red Wings took an apparently impregnable lead over their American Association rivals, the St. Paul Saints.

It was the fourth straight victory for Manager Billy Southworth's charges. They need only one more win to end the series. About 8,000 people saw the game.

Wildness on the part of the five pitchers who saw service in the game made it slow and listless despite the closeness of the score. Fifteen bases on balls were issued by the combined moundsmen, nine by the three St. Paul hurlers, Murphy, Prudhomme and Vanatta. Buck Foreman, who finished for Rochester after the veteran Carman Hill was removed in the second inning, gave five walks and was unsteady otherwise but managed to stagger through to be credited with the victory.

Bentley singled in the winning run in the seventh after Pepper and Puccinelli had walked.

The sixth game of the series is to be played here tomorrow. Ira Smith, right-hander, is expected to pitch for Rochester with Huck Betts his probable opponent.

Married Men Win From Singles, 5-4

In a 10-inning game, filled with thrills and anxious moments, the Bark River Married Men showed their supremacy over the Single Men, winning by a 5 to 4 score on Sunday.

With two men out and two men on base, Edwin Bergman hit for two bases bringing in two of his teammates.

The score by innings:

Singles — 020 001 000 0—4 10 3
Married — 000 020 100 0—5 10 5

Batteries: Single Men, Clairmant, Boyle, Siko and Lessars, Boyle; Married Men, Erickson and Erickson.

Jackie Thompson Knocks Out Jones

Flint, Mich., Oct. 6. (AP)—Jackie Thompson, San Francisco negro, welterweight boxing champion, knocked out Tommy Jones, Tampa, Fla., in the third round of a scheduled ten-round non-title contest here tonight. Thompson scaled 148; Jones 148½.

Results of other bouts:

Carlos Herrera, 139, El Paso, Tex., defeated Tax Takala, 143, Michigan College of Mines, Houghton, decision (six); Freddie Stevens, 145, Flint, defeated Del Hawkins, 148½, Memphis, decision (six). Al Henderson, 135, Detroit, defeated Pete Borges, 135, Flint, decision (four); Dave Rivett, Flint, 157½, defeated Andy Angelids, Toledo, 159, (four).

Connie Mack Elated After Victory, and Gabby is Optimistic

BY GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Philadelphia, Oct. 6. (AP)—Connie Mack was a happy man tonight. Halted enroute to his private cubicle high in the tower of Shibe park for his regular after-game siesta, the diamond patriarch wore an expansive smile. He laughed.

"You'll excuse me, gentlemen, if I say I had a great ball club out there today. There were two great clubs, but mine was a little the better this time.

Praises Earnshaw.

"There's nothing much to talk about but pitching, is there? Earnshaw pitched a wonderful game. He's a pretty tough nut when he gets started. Only two hits off him, and both of them by that Pepper Martin. How are we going to stop that boy? I don't know whether Martin has just come into his own in time for this series, or merely is having a 'tea party' at our expense.

"And wasn't that a great home run Jimmy Foxx hit. I have seen them go as far as that during the regular season, but it was the longest drive ever made by an Athletic in a world series. I doubt if any one but Babe Ruth ever hit one further.

"All of our boys were hitting hard today, and that's all we needed. You know, when a player isn't connecting with the ball he lets it prey on his mind and it affects his entire play. We're over that now and you'll see a different ball club from here on."

Bemoans Poor Hitting.

In contrast to his rival's cheery mood, Manager Gabby Street of the Car'dnals looked like he was carrying the weight of the world on his shoulders as he trailed his thoroughly beaten athletes into the dressing room.

"How are you going to win when you can't score? There wasn't an answer for that one, so he went right on:

"You can't. My boys couldn't hit Earnshaw today and that was the whole story. All three of my pitchers—Johnson, Lindsey and Derringer—did well enough to suit me, but there weren't any runs behind them.

"Earnshaw pitched one of the finest games I ever saw. I wouldn't say it was any better than the one Burleigh Grimes pitched yesterday, but it was just as good. What a battle that would have been if they had hooked up!"

Gabby Likes Martin.

Asked what he thought about Pepper Martin, the Card pilot only could grope for the proper adjectives.

"He is a wonder, a marvel, one of the greatest young players the game ever saw. That's about all you can say about him. He's in there fighting every minute and is as cool as a veteran. All my men are playing good ball, as far as that's concerned. They didn't look so good at bat today but that doesn't mean a thing. They'll be in there slugging the hide off that American league ball tomorrow.

"The edge we had after winning yesterday's game is wiped out, but we've still got as good a chance as they have. It's a series between two great ball teams, like I said all along, and nobody can say which will win."

As they dressed, mostly in gloomy silence, the Cardinals took turns sympathizing with Bruce Flowers, reserve third baseman, who was hit in the face by a batted ball in batting practice. Flowers' nose and mouth were badly swollen and it was doubtful he would get back in the series.

Neither manager would name a starting pitcher for tomorrow, but both expressed complete confidence in their mound staffs.

"I'm satisfied with my pitchers," said Mack, "and when I'm satisfied nobody else need worry. Your guess is as good as mine on who I'll pitch tomorrow."

ARMY TO PLAY MIDDIES AGAIN

Grid Classic to Be Staged for Benefit of Unemployed

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—The thrill of another gridiron clash between West Point and Annapolis, with the unemployed benefitting, will be given American football fans this fall.

Secretary Adams of the Navy department tentatively arranged that this year's game be played in a city other than New York, the place of last year's game which the Army won 6-0. That game netted about $400,000 for the unemployed.

Chicago Suggested

Naval officials favor Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Annapolis' last scheduled game will be there December 5 when the academy plays the University of Pennsylvania.

Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, has informally suggested Chicago, Cleveland and other cities also have been suggested.

The probable date of the game is December 12. Considerations of securing as large attendance as possible may make it necessary, naval officers said tonight, to play the game at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Rules Suspended

Since the game will be for charity, both Army and Navy officials are anxious that the largest number of seats possible be available for sale to the public.

The question of eligibility rules which has prevented the two academies from playing scheduled games for four years will not enter into the arrangement.

Additional Seats Are Reserved for Saturday's Game

Choice grandstand seats between the 40-yard lines can now be reserved for the Escanaba-Menominee football game at the Office Service company, Principal John A. Lemmer announced yesterday.

Holders of the season tickets already have the first five rows reserved for them, and the additional arrangements were made this week to accommodate others who wish to be assured of good seats at the big game. Ushers will be on the job, and reserved seats will be held for the purchasers. There is no extra charge for admission and seat reservation.

It is expected that the grandstand will be packed next Saturday.

Wrestling Matches To Be Investigated

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—Dwight Barker, secretary of the state athletic board of control, said today an investigation of wrestling matches held in Lansing recently will be made. Two participants in a bout Monday night were accused of stalling and the referee declared "no match." Barker said Elmer Guthrie and Frank Wolffe, the wrestlers, probably will be suspended. He said the board may inquire into matches held in other parts of the state to determine whether they are bona fide or merely "acts."

Governor Brucker will listen to any reports that may be made to him in connection with wrestling shows, but will leave the investigation up to the athletic board.

Bond Prices Rise With Heavy Buying

New York, Oct. 6. (AP)—The curb market rallied substantially today as a broad buying movement, particularly in the last hour, swept over the list. Net gains ranged from 1 to nearly 9 points in many active stocks and the turnover swelled to 800,000 shares.

There was some unsettlement after the firm opening, but the advance was resumed in the afternoon and attained considerable activity toward the close. Utilities recovered sharply. Electric Bond and Share was up 3 7-8 net. Duke Power soared 8, while Associated Gas A, United Light A, New England Telephone, American Light and American Superpower were up 1½ to 3.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 6 (AP)—Joe Zeller, veteran guard, reported at the Indiana football practice today with a badly bruised thigh and may be out of action for some time. First hurt in the Ohio university game, it was injured again in the Notre Dame fracas.

World's Series Pool Amounts to $320,303

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—The 1931 world series player pool, derived from a major portion of the gate receipts of the first four games, amounts to $320,303.46. This is the smallest in nine years and compares to the record pool of $419,736.60, split by the Yankees, Cardinals and other first division clubs in 1928.

Of the total pool, 70 per cent, or $224,212.42, goes to the Athletics and Cardinals, divided on a basis of 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers. The winners' end amounts to $134,527.45 and losers' total $89,684.96.

Cards Decide on Split

The Cardinals have already decided to split their end into 30 full shares. If they capture the series, this will mean $4,484.24 per share. On the same basis a losing share would amount to $2,989.49.

The A's have not yet decided into how many shares they will split their end of the money.

Other Distributions

Cut down to a basis of 25 shares, the winners' split would amount to $5,381.09 per share and the losers' $3,587.39.

The A's and Cards, therefore, in addition to the tussle for the title, will fight it out for a difference of somewhere between $1500 and $1800 per man.

The second, third and fourth place clubs in each league split an aggregate of $96,091.03. It will be apportioned as follows: $24,022.75 to each of the second place outfits New York Giants and New York Yankees; $16,015.17 to each third place team, Chicago Cubs and Washington Senators; $8,007.58 to each fourth place club, Brooklyn Robins and Cleveland Indians.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Oct. 6. (AP)—The stocks that nobody wanted yesterday had plenty of friends today.

Between Monday's close and this morning's opening there popped up one of those amazingly rapid changes in market psychology and quotations moved dizzily upward in the largest general advanced since November 14, 1929. Based on the Standard Statistics-Associated Press averages the amounted to 8.7 points, much larger than any of the June rallies. Sales totaled 4,301,464 shares.

Hoover's Plan Helps.

President Hoover's plans to effect "national unity in the setting-up of constructive forces in place of destructive forces now working in the depression" were veiled in considerable secrecy while the market was in session, but Wall Street took the White House announcement to mean that definite measures were being worked out to ease frozen credits and restore confidence, doubtless through the cooperation of bankers and the national government.

Strongly encouraged by the overnight announcement of President Hoover's meeting with the congressional leaders this evening, shares got further support from another stock exchange edict on sales requiring members to ascertain whether a selling order was for short or long account before executing it. Then came the declaration of Atchison's regular dividend—a cut had been predicted in many quarters — and President Hoover's announcement concerning tomorrow's conference of real estate men and bankers, presumably for a discussion of plans to relieve what is admittedly a most difficult situation. Long deprived of favorable news, the market jumped to its feast and final prices, except in the rail group, were virtually at the top.

U. S. Steel closed at 71 1-8, up 8 7-8, American Telephone at 132 5-8, up 11 1-8; American Can 79¼, up 7¼; General Electric 28 3-8, up 3 5-8; Westinghouse 47 5-8, up 8¼; Consolidated Gas 69, up 7¾; North American 35, up 8½; Western Union 97¾, up 10¼; General Motors 25, up 2½; Woolworth 49 3-8, up 6. New York Central's net gain was 7½. Atchison, which had been up 16 points to 113½, finished at 110, or 12½ higher. Norfolk & Western and Union Pacific retained 10 to 11¾ points, respectively, of somewhat larger extreme advances.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Robust upturns in grain prices today kept pace with a spirited advance of securities. Much of the augmented buying which accompanied the rise of wheat especially was associated with general expectance that some important constructive action would follow a conference at the White House tonight to consider the present business situation.

Wheat closed firm 2 to 2¾ cents higher, corn 1¾ to 1 3-4 up, oats 7-8 to 1 1-8 advanced and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 15 cents gain.

Corn and oats chiefly reflected the advances of wheat and of stocks. Unsettled weather over the corn belt was an additional incentive to buyers.

Provisions averaged higher with stocks and grain, despite lower hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat Dec. 46¼ to 3-8, 48 1-8; May 50½, 52 1-8 to ¼.

Corn Dec. 34 to 34 1-8; 35 3-8 to ½; May 38, 39½.

New York, Oct. 6. (AP)—The bond market proved today that it could revive itself.

During the forenoon prices continued to recede on moderate activity. About mid-session, however, firmer prices appeared and activity increased sharply.

The average price of sixty corporate bonds, consisting of equal numbers of rail, public utility and industrial issues, was 80.7, a net gain for the day of seven tenths of a point. The Monday average constituted the lowest price in several years. Sales aggregated $19,610,000 on the stock exchange, an increase of more than $3,000,000 over Monday.

This buoyancy was ascribed generally to the conferences initiated by the Hoover administration.

OLD ESCANABA SETTLER DEAD

Mrs. Catherine Lang, 78, Came to City as a Bride in 1873

Another of Escanaba's pioneer settlers was called by death yesterday when Mrs. Catherine Lang, 76, passed away at her home, 704 Second avenue south, at 2:30 p. m., following an illnes of less than three weeks due to a stroke which she suffered at her home.

Mrs. Lang was born April 28, 1853, in Diecheit, Germany, and came to this city as a bride in 1873. She lived here continuously since her arrival in this country. Mrs. Lang leaves one daughter, Mrs. John A. Ryan, of Iron Mountain; six sons, Jacob, Joseph, William and George of Escanaba, John of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mathias of Detroit; also two grandchildren.

Mrs. Lang had been a life-long member of St. Joseph's church and was a charter member of that parish. She attended St. Joseph's church when the little frame building which was torn down more than 50 years ago was the only Catholic church in this city.

The body was removed last night from the Allo Funeral Home to the family residence. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church when a requiem high mass will be offered. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery where her husband, Joseph Lang, was buried 24 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Lang are expected to arrive this afternoon from Detroit.

On Job Again

Peter Houle Discovers Farm Buildings Ablaze; Wakes Up Family.

Dynamite caps, hidden near the woodshep, probably saved the lives of members of the William Juneau family, living one and one-half miles east of Wilson, when fire early yesterday morning destroyed the shed, chicken coop, hog pen and storage house and threatened to ignite the home.

Deputy Sheriff Peter Houle, who lives nearby, was awakened by an explosion at 2:30 a. m., and going out of his home, he saw the Juneau farm buildings ablaze. He aroused the Juneau family, and their combined efforts succeeded in saving the farmhouse.

Fifteen chickens were burned to death in the blaze, but the hogs managed to make their escape from the burning pen. The loss amounts to $500, and is not covered by insurance.

Mr. Juneau had secreted the dynamite caps near the woodshed so that the children would not find them. Had they not exploded, it is probable that the Juneau home also would have caught fire.

Shooting Scares Birds In Refuge

Before the start of the duck hunting season, between 200 and 300 teal were seen daily, feeding in the wildfowl refuge on Bay de Noc at Escanaba, but early morning prowlers violated the sanctuary by banging away when no one was looking, and the birds have sought a safer spot. Dogs also molested the ducks.

The shore line from lighthouse point to Brewery point has been designated by the state as a waterfowl refuge, and local conservationists have been aiding the project by putting out food to attract the birds.

Driver Injured As Two Cars Collide

William A. Leach, 315 South 16th, received painful cuts and bruises about the face, head and arms Monday night, when his automobile was struck on the right side by a car driven by John Dirtola of Gwinn.

The accident occurred at a crossing north of the Birds Eye Veneer plant on North 23rd street as Leach was coming out on a side street from the north side, where he had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leach. His injuries required medical attention, and he was confined to his home yesterday.

Dirtola was accompanied by his wife, baby and his mother. They were unhurt. Police who investigated the collision said that Dirtola would return to Escanaba today to report on the accident.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

Ina Claire, who brings her fine performance of "Rebound" to the screen in the RKO Pathe version of the stage success, has the distinction of never having appeared in a play that was a failure. The formula for such an achievement, Miss Claire explains, lies not so much in the judgment of plays as in the judgment of audiences by a star.

"Every year I receive from fifteen hundred to two thousand plays," says Miss Claire. "It seems that virtually everyone thinks he could write a play if he had the time. There are plenty of plays, but there is just one public and that public must be pleased.

Among Miss Claire's successes have been "The Gold Diggers," "The Awful Truth," "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" and "Our Betters." Almost all of her vehicles, like "Rebound," now playing at the Delft Theatre, have dealt with the so-called "smart set."

Edward H. Griffith, who made "Paris Bound" and "Holiday" directed this picture.

In Miss Claire's supporting cast are Robert Ames, Robert Williams, Myrna Loy, Hedda Hopper, Hale Hamilton, Walter Walker, Louise Closser Hale and Leigh Allen.

"Rebound" is an adaptation from a play by Donald Ogden Stewart in which Miss Claire appeared on the West Coast.

There are 94,000 fewer people living within the London city limits than 10 years ago.

What Are They Doing Now?

Little Items of Interest About Former Residents.

Dr. Frank T. Long, 2612 East 75th Street, Chicago, is among the former Escanaba residents who retain a soft spot in their hearts for this city.

Dr. Frank T. Long was born in Fredericton, New Brunswick, and went to Menominee, Mich., with his parents when a small child. He attended the public schools in that city and the Marinette Business College.

He studied dentistry at Northwestern University and after receiving his diploma opened an office in Gladstone, later coming to this city where he practiced for many years. He left here in 1927 for Chicago where he is now practicing.

Dr. Long is the father of four children: Mrs. C. W. Murker, Gladstone; Miss Anna M. Long, Lansing, Mich.; Miss Jean M. Long of Chicago, and Gordon Long, in the U. S. Navy, now sojourning in China.

Dr. Long returns here every summer and motors to all points of interest in the county.

His hobbies are his profession and baseball. He never misses a game if it is at all possible for him to attend.

He remarried in Chicago in 1929, Mrs. Long being the former Miss Marion Craig of this city.

Believe It Or Not

Financial growth is very much like the progress of human life—steady, regular gains are healthier than spasmodic jumps and while the former invariably attains its goal the latter seldom, if ever, does.

Small beginnings consistantly added to is the true path to financial progress.
